—The basis of the arrangement agreed upon by the representatives of the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio Railroads, at their conference in New York on Friday last, will be submitted to the respective boards of directors of these roads on Wednesday next.

—The parties implicated in the Hilts affair, dealing in forged Government bonds, had a hearing in Philadelphia on Saturday, and were held in twenty thousand dollars each for trial at the present term of Court, except George Helmbold, who was honorably discharged.

—The Court of Queen's Bench, at Manitoba, was convened on Friday, Chief Justice Wood presiding. In his charge to the Grand Jury Judge Wood made a direct attack upon the Ottawa Government. He designated the Dawson route as a delusion and a snare, and says the Pembina branch is no better.

—Advices from the West say W. D. Jenkins, Deputy United States Marshal, and Wm. D. Street, an Indian scout and guide, had a desperate fight with a band of Cheyenne Indians, in Rawlins county, Kansas, a few days ago. Jenkins and Street fortified themselves at the head of a ravine, fought the Indians four hours, killed seven of them, and finally drove them off.

—The departure of a detachment of the Washington Light Infantry from Charleston, S. C., with fifty muskets, for Bunker Hill, on Saturday, was made an occasion of great popular demonstration. —Indictments have been found against five more prominent members of the so-called "whisky ring" in St. Louis, but their arrest has not been made, nor have the names of the parties indicted transpired. It is alleged that evidence against the ring is turning up in unexpected quarters, and that it is very strong and convincing. Reports that the Government has compromised with members of the ring are emphatically denied by officials, who assert that the prosecution of the parties implicated will be vigorous and determined.

—The Union Depot in St. Louis is so far completed that all eastern bound trains were made up there and left for their destinations on Sunday evening, passing through the tunnel and across the bridge. All the roads centering there except the St. Louis, Kansas & Northern and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern will hereafter use this depot, and these will probably have their connections made in thirty to sixty days. The present depot is only a temporary affair, and will soon give place to a large and fine building now in process of erection.

STATE.

THE new Court house at Hollidaysburg is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

A BEDFORD lady who went to Cumberland the other day and stopped at the Queen City hotel, ate eighteen oranges between Bridgeport and Cumberland. This would average an orange a mile and four oranges for stops.

THERE is a girl in Baden, Beaver county, who is credited with having golden tresses six feet eight inches long, and it ain't store hair either. Wouldn't that afford a splendid hold in a domestic jamboree, where the loving husband desired to yank her around awhile for running such a big bill for spring dress goods?

MR. CALEB WALTERS, of Chester county, a few days ago performed the astonishing feat of shearing 55 sheep in ten hours, on Samuel Walter's farm, in Pocopson township. The sheep were of the Kentucky breed, and weighed from 125 to 175 pounds per head. One of these sheep Mr. Walters sheared in six minutes, and did his work well.

Altitude of Places.

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 3, 1875.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

It is well to know the altitude of leading points and objects above the level of the ocean. To ascertain accurately the height of a place many hundred miles inland, for example, Kansas City or Denver, requires much labor, yet the result can be recorded in a line. This morning I amused myself for a little while in gathering from a report of Professor Hayden, the noted geologist of the Rocky Mountain region, embraced within the limits of Colorado, the following table of altitudes:

	Feet.
Altoona (P. R. R.)	1,178
Pittsburgh (Union Depot)	746
Cincinnati (low water in Ohio)	440
Surface of Lake Erie	573
Surface of Lake Michigan	589
St. Louis (high water in Miss., 1844)	431
St. Louis (extreme low water)	395
Kansas City (K. P. Railway)	764
Leavenworth (low water in Missouri)	764
Omaha (river level)	997
Omaha (U. P. Railway)	1,060
Lawrence, Kan., (K. P. R. R.)	845
Denver, Colorado	5,179
Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory (U. P.)	6,075
Colorado Springs (R. R. Depot)	5,985
Colorado Springs, (Manitou, the springs)	6,023
Pike's Peak	14,147
Mount Lincoln (N. W. angle of South Park)	14,297

From this it will be seen how much more rapidly the country west of the Mississippi slopes towards the central river than does that on the eastern side. From Leavenworth to St. Louis the water descends 369 feet, while the descent of the Ohio in the thousand miles from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati is only 326 feet, allowing 20 feet for the height of the depot in Pittsburgh. But it is from the Missouri westward that the rise is most rapid, as Denver is 4,425 feet above Kansas City. The summit on that road, a few miles east of Denver, is about 5,000 feet above. The average rise of the country between the Missouri river and east of the South Platte is over eight feet per mile. The elevation of the western line of Kansas is about 3,200 feet. The Arkansas river in its course from the mountains to the Mississippi descends upward of 4,500 feet.

The foregoing table of altitudes is the result of carefully collated instrumental measurements, except the last two lofty peaks, which were measured barometrically. They are now covered with snow from their top to below the timber line, which gives them a grand appearance when viewed from this warm and verdant valley, which is itself nearly as high as Mount Washington, and almost double the altitude of the Allegheniés in Pennsylvania. THE BORDER WAR.

A Skirmish on the Texas Frontier.

Twelve Mexican Cattle Thieves Killed.

NEW ORLEANS, June 12.—A Brownsville special to the Galveston News says: General Steele and Major Dwyer left yesterday for Rio Grande City, and Captain McNeely and part of his company are below watching for the raiders, now on this side. The Mexicans report the crossing of fifty beeves below here.

On Wednesday Sergeant Hall went to Bagdad to see the beeves General Cortina is shipping to Cuba, many of them having American brands. The men who are assisting to ship them say that the beeves were stolen from Texas. About one hundred thousand pounds of dried beef now ready for shipment, is undoubtedly American, as the Mexicans do not raise half enough beef to supply their own market. Hall was closely watched, and succeeded in taking only about twenty brands.

On Sunday morning Gen. Cortina left Bagdad with seventy-five men. Above here cattle stealing is terrible, and oxen are driven off almost daily. It is reported that General Cortina's resignation has been accepted. The Supreme Government determined to remove him from the frontier. Cortina does not intend to go. A report says General Steele gave orders for rangers not to cross the Rio Grande, on account of the exasperated feelings of the Mexicans, and the danger that they would lay waste the country between the Neuces and the Rio Grande before forces could be sent there to check them. The war feeling is strong on the Mexican side.

Later.

BROWNSVILLE, TEX., June 12.—This morning Capt. McNeely, of the State troops, with a few of his men, pursued, and after a forced march of twenty-five miles overtook a band of twelve cattle thieves about twelve miles below this place. They showed fight and in the engagement which ensued the whole band of raiders was killed. McNeely lost one man killed, Berry Smith, two horses killed and one wounded. He recaptured two hundred and fifty head of stolen cattle.

INDIANAPOLIS.

A Complimentary Dinner Tendered to Hon. John C. New, Treasurer of the United States.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 13.—Over one hundred of the leading citizens of this city, irrespective of party, have tendered to Hon. John C. New, recently appointed Treasurer of the United States, a public dinner previous to his departure for Washington, to assume his official duties. Among the signers are embraced the names of United States Senators Morton and McDonald, Governor Hendricks, the Federal, State and municipal officials, all of the leading bankers and editors, as well as our most prominent attorneys, merchants, and substantial business men. The appointment of Mr. New has been received with unusual favor by all classes where he is known, and the compliment, considering the character of the persons who tendered the dinner, is such as was never before offered to any citizen of this State. Mr. New is of a modest, retiring disposition, and declines the compliment, for the reason that he has yet been untried in so responsible a position, and his ability to successfully discharge the duties are unproved.

THE MINERS' WAR.

Attempts to Arrange a Compromise—The Operators Refuse to Make Concessions—Two Miners Shot.

POTTSVILLE, PA., June 12.—To-day the Executive Board of the M. B. A. met at Shamokin, looking to some compromise in that region, but the meeting was unattended by a single coal operator. The Executive Board of the M. and L. B. A. have appointed a meeting in Pottsville on Tuesday to arrange a compromise with a committee of the Coal Exchange, but it is reported the Executive Board of the Coal Exchange have refused them an audience, and have determined to make no compromise whatever.

Two men, named Kilgore and John Leary, were shot at Forestville this afternoon while coming from work. It was at first reported that both were dead, but later advices state that they are still alive. One is literally riddled, having seven rifle balls in his body. The other man is shot in the arm and hip, and his recovery is very doubtful. They were found in the mountains about 5 o'clock P. M. between Forestvile and Thomaston. Both men live at Forestville.

ST. LOUIS.

Levying an Execution Under Difficulties—A Sheriff Compels the Warden of the Penitentiary to Open Its Doors, and Seizes the Property of Sub-Lessees.

ST. LOUIS, June 12.—Several days ago Sheriff Meyers, of Cole county, visited the penitentiary at Jefferson City, to levy on property of the Missouri Hardware Company, sub-lessees of the penitentiary, against which he had writs of execution issued by the Circuit Court of this city, and an entrance was resisted by the lessees. This evening Sheriff Meyers again visited the prison with a posse of sixty men to make a forcible entrance, if necessary. He was met at the gate by Warden Sebree and told he could not be admitted. The Sheriff then took a rock and pounded the door, breaking some of its panels. The Warden, seeing that the Sheriff was determined to gain admittance, ordered the door to be opened, and the Sheriff entered, levied on the tools, machinery and other property, and took them away. A great crowd of citizens was present to witness the proceeding, and trouble was anticipated, but no disturbance occurred.

CHICAGO.

Trouble Brewing Among Workingmen—A Meeting to Consider the Labor Question — Incendiary Speeches.

CHICAGO, June 13.—Communists and workingmen held a meeting this afternoon in Bohemian Turner Hall, to consider the labor question. Speeches of a most inflammatory character were delivered, and the advice freely tendered by numerous speakers that the laborers should arm themselves and present forcible resistance to the encroachments of employers on their rights, and that they should scuttle incoming vessels before they were unloaded, and thus teach owners not to trifle with their workmen. Resolutions were adopted extending sympathy to the striking coal miners of Pennsylvania, and a small contribution was taken up for their benefit; also recognizing the necessity of a suitable platform and organization.

The Vicksburg Disaster.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., June 12.—The following are the names of the persons who arrived here to-day belonging to the wrecked steamer Vicksburg: Parker Greenwood, James Callaghan, William Ryan, James Dorran, William Jones, and James Walter, seamen; John Curtin, John Redmond, and Martin Lee, firemen; and John Pergelly, Bryan McShane, and Richard Corbett, passengers. Her Majesty's steamer Swallow has left St. Johns, New Foundland, in search of the missing Vicksburg boats. The mate's boat was upset and lost an hour after leaving the ship.

YELLOW STONE RIVER

A Steamboat Trip by Government Officers—Report on the Navigability of the Stream—A Good Stage of Water During Three Months of the Year—Plenty of Wood and Game.

CHICAGO, June 12.—The following dispatch was received at Lieutenant General Sheridan's headquarters here to-day:

BISMARCK, D. T., June 12, 1875.—We left Ft. Buford at 6 P. M. Wednesday, May 26th, and reached the mouth of Big Horn river by the use of steam alone, without setting a spar and warping, at 8 A. M. Wednesday, June 2d. Our running time was eighty-eight hours and forty minutes. The distance traveled from Ft. Buford was four hundred miles, and from the mouth of the Powder river one hundred and sixty-five miles. Pushing on from the Big Horn we had to work our way up the Yellow Stone by the use of lines or spars, passing Pompeii's Pillar and Pryor's river, but finally were compelled to turn back when within about twenty miles of Clark's Fork, having reached a point on the Yellow Stone 250 miles above the Powder river, and 485 miles from Ft. Buford. In descending the Yellow Stone we had a rise in the river as far as the Powder river, but from there to the Big Horn the water was falling, and the marks on the banks showed that our stage of water was at least two feet below the usual spring rise. The minimum depth of water by soundings on Wolf Rapids was eight feet, and on the main Buffalo Rapids it was seven. We steamed over both of them without the least trouble. We also ran up the Big Horn river for a distance of twelve miles, when we found that the channel was so obstructed that it would not pay to try to go any higher. This river is about one hundred and fifty yards wide at its mouth, the water muddy and the valley proper narrow and rough, with plenty of cottonwood along the stream. The water of the Yellow Stone above the Big Horn is clear. I feel justified in saying that for three months of each year the Yellow Stone is navigable from its mouth to the mouth of the Big Horn, and if reports are true it is much better than the Upper Missouri during the same period. We saw and killed during our brief trip buffalo, elk, deer, mountain sheep and bear, and caught trout above Pryor's river. There is any quantity of pine and cottonwood for all building purposes from the Tongue river as far west as we went or could see. We saw no Sioux on the river, but ran on to three hundred and fifty lodges of Crows above Pryor's river, who were on their way down to the Big Horn country to hunt. We leave this morning for Chicago.

Cold Blooded Murder near Murfreesboro—The Murderer in Jail.

NASHVILLE, June 12.—Mrs. W. J. Jarrett, whose residence is near Salem pike, about seven miles southwest of Murfreesboro, after preparing her children yesterday afternoon for an evening visit, sent them in charge of a servant to Col. M., her husband, in company with Mr. Dink Lawrence, returned home, and there found his wife, whom he had left in health, happiness and life but a few hours before, in the cold embrace of death. A negro named Jesse Woodson is accused of the crime and is now under arrest.

Later.—8:20 P. M.—Jesse Woodson (colored) was found guilty at the Coroner's inquest and brought here and placed in jail for safe keeping to save him from mob violence.

Ex-Speaker Blaine occupied a seat in the first coach and received injuries that will confine him to his bed for a day or two.

An Oil Tank Struck by Lightning —12,000 Barrels of Crude Oil Burned—Loss $20,000.

PARKER, PA., June 12.—The United Pipe Line Company's iron tank No. 1, containing about 10,000 barrels of crude oil, at Monterey, on the line of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, was struck by lightning this morning at one o'clock, and was almost entirely consumed.*

Suicide of a Prominent Citizen of Boston.

BOSTON, June 12.—Joseph P. Gardner, aged forty-eight, a wealthy and prominent citizen of Boston, was found dead in the woods near Beverly to-day, lying on his back, his revolver in his hand, pointed at his head, four chambers of which were empty. There is every indication of his having committed suicide. The deceased was living at his country seat, and left the house last evening for a walk after which he was not seen again until found to-day. He was a graduate of the Harvard class of 1847. No cause can be assigned for the act, as he was in affluent circumstances and all his relations in life apparently pleasant.

"Bill" King Admitted to Bail.

WASHINGTON, June 12, 1875.

Congressman elect William S. King, indicted in connection with the Pacific Mail subsidy, was admitted to bail in $5,000 to-day. Gen. Butler moved in the Criminal Court that a day be set for the trial. The motion was opposed by District Attorney Fisher, and the Judge has the matter under advisement.

The Price of Labor.

Thousands of laborers have been out of work in various parts of the country during the last few months, and are still out of employment, because of an unwillness to accept rates of wages which employers can afford to pay. A reduction of wages is unpleasant to the laboring classes, but in view of the changed and changing condition of business enterprises, it is inevitable. It is, therefore, folly to try and escape it by strikes. The very state of things that forces a reduction in the rates of wages makes it easy to fill vacant places or even to leave them unfilled. If there is no profit in having work done, there is no inducement to give employment to laborers, and those who are fortunate in having work, are foolish to abandon it, unless they can improve their condition by doing so. The times are as hard for employers as they are for the employed. Values have been shrinking, and business has been very dull for many months as an inevitable consequence of the previous unnatural inflation and expansion. It is one of the greatest misfortunes of working people that they do not understand the principles which control the value of their labor. Labor of every kind, be it high or low, is a commodity in the market, and its price is governed like that of all other commodities. It depends on the relations of demand and supply and at a time when the demand is greatly diminished by reason of the depressed value of the products of labor, it must come down,—it cannot hope to escape the inexorable law. Not only that, but the profits of business and of professional services must be reduced in obedience to the same inevitable and inexorable law. Capital suffers as much as labor. The man who in brisk times can use his money to advantage, can obtain high rates for its use, in dull times must let it idle, or take a very small percentage for its use,—as witness, the present state of the money market. In point of fact labor and prices have both got to come down. It will, perhaps, be a long time before both become adjusted, but in the mean time there is little use in fighting against the inevitable.

Statistics of the Hog Crop.

The Agricultural Department has statistics, carefully collected by responsible persons in the seven hog leading States, which show that in January last there were in in those States, on the hoof, 14,213,800 hogs. These were divided as follows: Indiana, 2,670,000 head; Illinois, 2,034,000 head; Iowa, 3,398,200 head; Missouri, 2,082,600 head; Ohio, 1,734,400 head; Kentucky, 1,706,000 head; Wisconsin, 587,800 head. It is estimated that the returns from other States will make the hog crop for this year over 18,060,000 head.

MR. SAMUEL MENDEL, an opulent Briton and spinner of cotton, recently sent his pictures and furniture to auction. One of his pictures, by Frith, brought $34,000—the highest price ever paid in England at an auction for the production of an English artist. The total sale of his household goods brought over $750,000, most of the pictures selling for more than cost.

NEW GRENADA.

Particulars of the Recent Earthquake.

PANAMA, June 4.—The following particulars of the recent terrible earthquake have been received by letter from Saltzar, dated May 19th: At 11:10 A. M. yesterday, 18th, a severe earthquake visited this city and region. In this city a church fell, and several houses were destroyed, and some people were killed. The city of Circinta is entirely destroyed, only a few families being saved. The "Botica Alemania," a German drug store, was set on fire by a ball of fire which was thrown out of the volcano, which is constantly belching out lava. This volcano has opened itself in front of Santiago, in the region called El Alto de la Giracha. San Cayetano was destroyed and a portion of Santiago. In Gramalate there was great destruction. Arboleda, Cucutilla and San Cristobal are nearly destroyed, principally the four last. The population of these towns is estimated as follows: San Cayetano, 4,000; Santiago, 2,000; Gramatah, 3,000; Arboleda, 5,000; Cercutilla, 5,000; San Cristobal, 10,000.

The section of country referred to embraces the region around about where Columbia and Venezuela join the Columbian portion, embracing the State of Santander. It is in some respects the most productive part of this republic, and its coffee is famous all the world over. San Jose Deneircuta, at the time of the disaster, had a population estimated at about 1,800. It had a large commercial business, and was a great depot for coffee and cacao for shipment either through the Venezuelan ports or down the Magdalena to Panama. The shock was felt sharply in Bogota and adjoining sections. A gentleman who was at the time in Facataitvia says the movement lasted for three-quarters of a minute. It was also slightly felt in Banangriell.

The Scene of Visitation.

[New Grenada, the scene of this awful visitation, is an independent Republic of South America, formerly a viceroyalty under the Spanish crown, but subsequently part of the Republic of Columbia, the middle and west provinces of which it now embraces. It has the Carribbean Sea, with the Gulfs of Santa Martha and Darien on the north, and on the west the Pacific Ocean, with the Bays of Panama and Choco. Between the two seas on the northwest it is bounded by Costa Rica; Venezuela and Brazil confine it on the east and southeast, and the Republic of Ecuador on the south. It extends from the equator to 12° 20' N. lat., and from 69 deg. 10' to 82 deg. 45' W. long. Its greatest length from north to south is 845 miles, and its greatest breadth measured on a paralled of latitude is 675 miles, the entire estimated area being 480,000 miles. The Valley of Cucuta, where the greatest sacrifice of life is reported to have occurred, is in the province of Pamplona, on the Venezuelan frontier, and was discovered by Juan de San Martin, in 1534. Here, as well as elsewhere throughout New Grenada, the climate presents the most remarkable contrast. The industry of the country, which is divided into seven departments and two territories amounts to little. The names and population of the departments and territories, according to the latest statistical information, is as follows:

Departm'ts	Whites	Indins	Negrs	Mixed.	Total.

GERMANY.

Reception of the United States Fleet.

BERLIN, June 12.—The North German Gazette of to-day notices the arrival of the United States fleet, Rear Admiral Worden commanding, and says the Admiral is expected to reach the city to-night on a visit. It extends a warm welcome to him, and says he is a highly deserving officer of an intimate friendly nation. The German man-of-war Lorely met the American fleet at the mouth of the Elbe, and after an exchange of salutes, accompanied it to Gluckstadt. The fleet is expected to arrive at Kiel soon, and the Admiralty there are preparing for a fitting reception and festivities in honor of the Americans.

Jail Delivery in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, June 13.—A jail delivery occurred this morning, whereby nineteen prisoners made their escape from the county jail. A young girl, who was committed to jail for the non-payment of a fine, and who was working out the fine in the family of the Jailor, procured the key while the family were in another part of the building, and unlocked the door, letting nineteen of the prisoners out before it was discovered that the door was open. The charges against the escaped prisoners are burglary, assault with intent to kill, horse stealing and grand larceny. Among the escaped prisoners are two men arrested with a gang of burglars who shot Policeman Kick some time ago. Five of the prisoners have been recaptured.

BREVITIES.

Paragraphic Pencilings of Passing Events.

····The defense will be opened this morning in the Smoky Island ejectment case.

····Jennie Palmer, for being disorderly, was sent to the Work House for sixty days by Mayor Phillips yesterday morning.

····The Superior Rail Mill, in Allegheny, was purchased at Sheriff's sale on Saturday by Messrs. Bennett, Moorehead & Co., for the sum of $69,000.

····The One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Regiment Association failed to get a quorum on Saturday night, and those present adjourned until next Friday evening.

····A meeting of the temperance societies will be held in the basement of St. Pauls Cathedral to-night, to make arrangements for the fourth of July celebration.

····The tannery of Mr. James Watson on the Butcher's Run road, Allegheny, was destroyed by fire on Saturday morning. Loss $2,800, on which there is no insurance.

····Some composer is now afforded an opportunity of distinguishing himself by composing a march for the ten thousand pupils of Allegheny City, who will be in line on the 25th inst.

····John McDevitt was fined ten dollars and costs on Saturday, by Alderman Anderson, for cruelly beating a goat. The suit was brought by Superintendent Street, of the Humane Society.

····The G. A. R. Posts of this vicinity are already commencing to recruit their finances in expectation of a trip to the Centennial next year. Each member pays fifty cents a week to the general fund.

····A brick house on the South Side, near the head of Ninth street, fell down yesterday. The earth under it was loosened by the heavy rain on Saturday morning and slipped, letting the building collapse.

····A man while passing along Ohio street yesterday afternoon, near the Allegheny water works, was struck on the head by a stone thrown by some person on the Troy Hill road, and received a severe wound on the head.

····The storm at Baden, Pa., on Saturday morning is said to have been the most destructive which has occurred in that locality for many years. Bridges and fences were washed away and a large amount of property destroyed.

····An alarm of fire from box 14, last night about half-past nine o'clock, was occasioned by a fire in the grease room of Jones & Laughlin's mill, on the South Side. It was extinguished without the aid of the department, and the loss was very slight.

····The South Side, from the Monongahela bridge up, was remarkably placid on Saturday considering the fact that the mill hands received five weeks pay then and the primary elections were progessing. Not a fight occurred and not an arrest was made.

····On an emigrant train which left the Union Depot on the Pittsburgh Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railroad at two o,clock on Saturday morning, a German expired as the train was passing Enon station. The remains were interred at Alliance at the expense of the railroad company.

····The Second avenue Park does really present quite an improved appearance since a few hundred dollars have been expended on its adornment by the city. It is well worthy a visit, but the trouble is it is locked up against all comers, and none but the keeper of the padlock key can enter.

····The Republicans of Mercer county have placed the following ticket in nomination: Senate, F. H. Braggins; Sheriff, A. P. Pew; Prothonotary, Col. H. N. Warren; Recorder, J. L. Morrison; Clerk of Courts, Capt. J. I. Regnor; District Attorney, A. R. Thompson; Commisioners, Thos. Leech and Capt. A. Struble.

····A meeting of delegates from the various Catholic Total Abstinence Societies of the city was held last night in the basement of St. Paul's Cathedral, for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements for the proposed Catholic celebration on the 5th of July. A number of minor matters were attended to, and several committees appointed, after which the meeting adjourned to meet again next Sunday evening.

····The Altoona Mirror, one of the newsiest and spiciest of our out-of-town exchanges, has been enlarged, and otherwise improved in its make-up. It is now a twenty-four column paper, and makes a fine appearance. The Mirror faithfully reflects the local and general news of the day, and its proprietors, Messrs. Slep & Fleming, deserve the success which has attended their efforts to make a good paper.

····It is said that Lulu Delmay, a variety performer, who is well-known here, recently victimized a prominent Pittsburgh hotel-keeper at Troy, New York, and fled with several thousand dollars worth of diamonds belonging to him. Lew. Spencer, of the negro minstrel profession, assisted her in getting away with them. They went to Albany and from there to Baltimore with the hotel-keeper in hot pursuit, but it is not known whether he has caged them.

····Mosquitoes have not yet made their appearance, but their annoying bills are not half so much dreaded as those which the tradesmen are already preparing to launch forth on the first of next month. The latter have plenty of time to con over their "ledger lines," so as to be able to prove as welcome to their debtors as the midsummer mosquitoes that sing the same old song always on the presentation of their bills—one calling for blood, the other for money.

····With the July number The Galaxy will enter on its 20th volume. It will celebrate the event by appearing in entirely new type and being printed on laid tinted paper, which will make it in appearance, as it has long been in contents, one of the most attractive magazines published. The July number will contain a sketch of Alexandre Dumas, by Albert Rhodes, an article on paintings by Henry James, Jr., "A Napoleonic Legend" by Grenville Murray, and many other attractive articles.

····It is told as a positive fact that a laboring man while in a tavern endeavoring to read aloud, for the benefit of his drinking companions, an article from the Leader, set in its small type, called in a blasphemous manner on his Creator to d——n his eyes, a supplication which seemed to be answered, as during the week following his sight commenced to fail and he is now stone blind. Was it a visitation of Providence upon him for his blasphemy or for attempting to read the Leader's wicked dissertation on the efficacy of prayer to innocent people who could not read for themselves?

····A match game of base ball will be played on Thursday coming between the Xantha club, of Allegheny, and the Washington club, of Washington, D. C. The first of the series of games between the Independent club of Sewickley and the McKeesport club came off on Saturday afternoon at the grounds of the latter. The former won by a score of 21 to 7. The return game of the Neshannocks, of New Castle, with the Red Stockings, of Washington, Pa, takes place to-morrow. The Neshannocks will also play on June 18 with the Washingtons, of Washington, D. C., and with the Mutuals, of Meadville, on July 3, and have extended an invitation to the Braddocks to play at New Castle, June 25.

····Friday was quite a warm day, as everybody knows. C, a well known gentleman, imbibed a considerable quantity of beer during the day, and in the afternoon he went home and laid down on the sofa. He fell asleep and the malt beverage he had taken in started a profuse sweat which superinduced regretful dreams, and he commenced muttering in his slumbers "I'll never drink any more beer," "I'll never drink any more beer," and kept it up until the thing got monotonous to his wife, who was sewing in the next room where he slept, and she got up and left. When he awoke she told him of the beery exclamations of his dreamy mind, and as she thinks it a good joke and won't let up on him he now swears that he won't drink any more beer.

PERSONAL.

Alderman George Moul, of the Eighth ward, Allegheny, has opened an office at No. 198 Main street.

Mayor Phillips, of Allegheny, returned from his fishing excursion on Saturday evening, and presided at the Mayor's office yesterday morning.

Dr. Graham, of the Board of Health, has, for the first time in ten years, harvested his crop of luxuriant whiskers. His own mother wouldn't know him. He did it as a sanitary measure.

J. W. Hall, Esq., of the Pittsburgh bar, starts to-morrow for a pleasure trip to New York and the East. He will be accompanied by his daughter Miss Maggie, and expects to be abroad for about ten days or a fortnight.

Even a District Attorney is not destitute of "heart." Here is the proof. Mrs. Mary Haynes, of Soho, Pa., was arrested yesterday morning and brought before United States Commissioner McCandless, charged with retailing cigars and tobacco without the payment of the special tax. She made an affecting speech. Mr. Reed, District Attorney, permitted her release on her own recognizance, to appear at the October term of the United States District Court. We are no sentimentalist. But we do believe in "heart." And since we read the above statement we have more respect and love for humanity.—Steubenville Gazette

Summer Resorts.

For a long time Pittsburghers have complained that there was no summer resort where a man could enjoy the beauties of nature, and escape the heat of the city, unless he left and hied away to some watering place, and thereby neglected his business, which all men could not do. This has been remedied by one of our enterprising citizens, Mr. W. S. Jackson, proprietor of the lovely place called "Idlewood." Mr. Jackson intends over-seeing it himself, which is a guarantee that everything will be first class. Near to the city, and at the same time in the country, in the true sense of the word, we know of no more desirable place to take up a summer abode. We have no doubt he will be crowded, as no such opportunity has been offered before.

INFORMATION FOR PUGILISTS.

What Mayor McCarthy Proposes to do Concerning the Ensuing Prize Fight.

Within the past few years Pittsburgh has come to be regarded by prize fighters as a very choice and select place, a Paradisaical spot for their base of operations. The reason of it was, but no longer is, the utter demoralization of the entire police force of the city and of those who had the management and control of it. Gangs of pugilists and their inevitable following of thieves and pickpockets were privileged to come here, remain unmolested as long as they pleased and leave undeterred on their unlawful errand, the "bummers" taking with them every thing in the way of watches, rings, valuables of every description and such sundry articles of vertu as they could lay their nimble fingers upon, besides shooting one or two of the wrong men when on the point of starting for their destination. Such is a very incomplete picture of the scenes which have transpired in Pittsburgh two or three times with in as many years, and Mayor McCarthy has determined that they shall not be re-enacted again. Last evening he informed our reporter that inasmuch as prevention is better than cure he had determined to let the parties engaged in arranging for the ensuing prize fight between Allen and Rooke understand that they cannot make Pittsburgh a starting point, nor a base of operations. He does not propose to have the quiet of the city disturbed by these representatives of the P. R., and if either Allen or Rooke, or any of their confederates, come here with the purpose of starting out for a pugilistic encounter he will cause their arrest and require them to give bail to keep the peace, and will also direct his police to keep a sharp eye for all suspicious characters arriving in the city in anticipation of seeing the fight, and if any such are arrested they will be escorted on the first train to the County Workhouse. This is business, and those to whom the information is addressed had better, like the Mayor, cudgel the memory, for some old saying that will meet their case, for instance such an one as "a stitch in time saves nine.

First Gold in California.

General Sherman has given this account of the first discovery of gold in Crlifornia: I remember one day that two men, Americans, came into the office and inquired for the Governor. I asked their business, and one answered that they had just come down from Captain Sutter on special business, and they wanted to see Governor Mason in person. I took them in to the Colonel and left them together. After some time the Colonel came to his door and called to me. I went in, and my attention was directed to a series of papers unfolded, on his table, in which lay about half an ounce of placer gold. Mason said to me, "What is that?" I touched it, and examined one or two of the larger pieces, and asked, "Is it gold?" Mason asked me if I had ever seen native gold. I answered that in 1844 I was in Upper Georgia, and there saw some native gold, but it was much finer than this, and that it was in phials or in transparent quills; but I said that if this were gold it could be easily tested—first, by its malleability, and next by acids. I took a piece in my teeth and the metallic lustre was perfect. I then called to the clerk (Baden) to bring an ax and hatchet from the back yard. When they were brought I took the largest piece and beat it out flat, and beyond doubt it was metal, and a pure metal. Still we attached little importance to the fact, for gold was known to exist at San Fernando, at the South, and yet was not considered of much value.

A Wonderful Plan for Publishing a Newspaper.

Mr. Walter, of the London Times newspaper, is said to be engaged in perfecting a new system of printing that paper, or rather of setting up the type. For some time, a good portion of the composition has been done by means of a machine with keys like those of a pianoforte, and Mr. Walter now proposes, instead of printing the whole edition of the Times in London, to distribute the work among all the large cities and towns where the paper has a large circulation. By means of electric wires extending from the London office to Liverpool, Manchester, Birmingham, Edinburgh, etc., he believes that by touching the keys of the instrument at the former place the type will be dropped into their appropriate places at the other extremities of the wire, and thus the paper be simultaneously composed by act of one man, in each city to which the wires extend. It is said that his experiments have been so far successful, and that he has the greatest confidence in the practicability of the scheme, which will amount to a revolution in typographical matters.

THE toughened glass invented by M. de la Bastie, of France, has been introduced in this country. The American agents of the inventor recently took several samples of the glassware made by the Bastie process to the Cooper Institute, New York, where they were submitted to all the tests for strength, of which mention has already been made. The new glass does not differ from ordinary glass in any quality except that of toughness. It is represented as a hundred times stronger than ordinary glass and costing only five per cent. more.

THE California Republicans do not seem to take the same view of Pennsylvania anti-Third Term resolutions, and President Grant's letter, in reply to them, that the Democratic and "Independent" papers claim to be right. The views of our Convention are inferentially endorsed, while the President's letter is accepted as a manly and outspoken declaration against the Third Term idea. The California Republicans evidently believe just what Postmaster General Jewell expressed,—that the President honestly declared that he has no purpose to seek or even accept a Third Term; and hence they regard this device as effectually killed off.

THE California Republicans have started in the canvass in a very happy manner. Aside from an excellent ticket, they have adopted a platform which is up to the times, and manfully outspoken on all issues. Particularly, it takes the popular side in California by opposing the Central Pacific Railroad's extortions. Like the anti-Catholic resolution in Ohio, it loses no votes, while it will gain a large amount of strength for the ticket. It is the identical issue on which Booth was elected Governor, and made United States Senator. There is every prospect of an exceedingly vigorous canvass, and the Republicans are in good cheer, and confident of success. The outlook, thus far, is good in all directions, and the morale of the party is evidently improving.

THE close of the libel suit against the Post was a surprise to the public. The prevailing opinion, with which we fully concur, is, that the damages assessed were excessive, and the verdict should be set aside, for this reason. The article complained of was the outgrowth of a political fight in which much bad blood was displayed on both sides. It was, it is understood, prepared Sunday afternoon, in the absence of the senior editor, Mr. Barr, by one of the junior proprietors. We do not doubt, had the senior editor been aware of the tenor of the article, he would have suppressed it. The Post, while our opposite in politics, is, we are glad to say, edited in a courteous and honorable manner, and avoids usually improprieties of all kinds. The assault on Mr. Moore's professional character was undoubtedly libelous and wrong. He is a gentleman, so far as we know, of unblemished professional character, and did not deserve the assault he received. Yet the fact that the principal editor and owner of the Post was not cognizant of the article should be taken into account, and the damages modified. Certainly the general good character of the paper is deserving of consideration.

THE Brilliant oil fire, by which so much property was destroyed on Saturday, should suggest some well directed effort toward protecting filled oil tanks from danger by fire. There seems, in times of lightning, when a large amount of electricity is in the air, to be a special attraction for it in the oil tanks. Whether it is the iron, or the oil, or both that attract, we do not undertake to say. The Brilliant oil fire, while not distinctly traceable to lightning, occurred so closely upon the fearful thunder-storm of the morning as to suggest this as the possible source of the flames. In the past several years, however, we have had many oil fires that were distinctly traceable to lightning. Hence the importance of thorough and exhaustive inquiry into this subject. If a reasonable amount of protection can be afforded to other forms of property, it certainly may be to this. The first problem is to discover, by experiment, the exact amount of attractive force there may be in a tank of oil of a given size. This done, and the amount of neutralizing force can at once be ascertained. Certainly we have lost enough from oil fires, that were distinctly traceable to lightning, for this question to be at once and promptly investigated. One of the evils of these fires is the fact that they paralyze, at least for a time, a portion of this branch of industry. Pittsburgh needs to keep and protect the oil refining industry.

THE prosecution of Claflin & Co., for purchasing smuggled silks to the estimated value of $380,000, and their defence ought to make a very interesting case, as it will touch the very roots of our tariff system. They claim, and will probably offer in defense, that they gave notice at the Custom House that smuggled silks were on the market, and that unless the smuggling was stopped it would seriously injure their trade. They further claim that they were advised by the Customs officer to purchase some of those silks, and that in doing so they simply followed the advice he gave. This, of course, does not constitute a defense, and, in our judgment, is not even an exculpation. Why did they not report to the Secretary of the Treasury the officer who gave this advice? They had in hand, that identical moment, the key to the very evil complained of, and failed to use it. Free trade papers use this circumstance to urge a reduction of duties, as avoiding the temptation to violate the revenue laws. We have hitherto ventilated the absurdity of seeking to adopt the revenue laws to the consciences of rascals. The true policy is to punish severely and mercilessly those in the employ of the Government who connive at the evasion of the laws. England enforces her revenue laws, even when taxation is higher,—as on whisky,—than here. Yet it is by the rigid enforcement of law on the Government officials. But Graff and Lawrence, it is now stated, are State's evidence, and in virtue of this go free; while the merchants who were tempted by them into violation of the laws are prosecuted. Graff came back from Canada, and, so, was possibly accepted because he could not be caught, and so the best possible use was made of him. But the rule we urge is that of the rigid and positive enforcement of law against guilty Government officials. In this, we would not have merchants excepted. The Claflins, assuming the above state of facts, were guilty, and should be punished; but so should guilty officials.

THE PRIMARIES.

Whatever may be the ultimate outcome of last Saturday's Primaries, it is quite evident that they elicited popular interest, and attracted a fair vote. Thus, whatever may be done, it is fair to presume it represents a majority of the Republican party, a fact which should harmonize all interests, and lead to a firm and united front in behalf of the ticket that shall be set up. All cannot, in the nature of things, have their choice, and if they and their friends have put out their whole strength, honestly and fairly, and still are not successful, it must be evident that success for the time being was not for them. The contest centered, on Saturday, upon the Shrievalty and the Register and Clerk of the Orphan's Court. For Recorder and Commissioners there was also a brisk effort, but Richardson is understood to have swept Pittsburgh, between the rivers and Allegheny, while Varner will be strong on the South Side and the country districts, and Beckert and McClelland are assumed to lead the Commissionership, but a combination from the country districts may be formed that will change the complexion of it. Gray undoubtedly has a clear majority for Register, and will have no difficulty in making the nomination. The Shrievalty contest has in it all the elements of glorious uncertainty, and affords an open field for scientific manipulation. The friends of Diehl claim that he leads in the number of delegates, and the supporters of Lindsay are equally positive in the same claim in his behalf. Neither, so far as returns now enable us to judge, can be nominated on the first ballot. Fife did unexpectedly well in the city, and if his strength from the country is all that is claimed for him, he is equally strong with the other two. Cluley and Judge Parke each have a few delegates, and the friends of the latter entertain the hope that he may be accepted as a compromise, and thus be nominated. The bitterness which developed at the last renders it difficult to forecast the trades and manipulations that are possible, but, of course, after the first ballot, which will result in nothing, the situation will depend very largely on the skill displayed in manipulating delegates. McCleery, of course, easily picks up the nomination for Clerk of the Courts, and Warner as easily reaches the Controllership.

We have no need to dwell on the situation. We are gratified at the interest taken in the primaries, and hope it will result in the harmonious support of the ticket that may be put in nomination. We advocated the utmost interest at the Primaries, believing that it would tend to a fair result, in the formation of the ticket. Certainly majorities must rule, and the minority should cheerfully yield, when it is well ascertained that a majority of their party friends are against them. Unless this is done, there is an end of party unity, and concert, and discipline. The malcontent of to-day, may be in the majority next year; and if he would have others sustain him when successful, he should stand by them when they are in the majority. This is the only rule that can be applied in politics.

So far as we have heard there was little, if any, unfairness displayed. There was, in places, excitement, controversy, and even some fighting. But we do not learn that cheating, or false counting was extensively practiced. Indeed the result points very strongly to the idea that it was generally an honest expression of preference that was reached. We hope the same spirit of earnestness, and an undoubted fairness will characterize the Conventions to-morrow,—that there may be no reason for other than a cheerful and willing support of the ticket. We ought, this year, to have harmony and success in Allegheny County.

OUR MANUFACTORIES.

Despite complaints of the general dullness of the times, observation seems to assure us of the fact, that our manufactories are generally busy, with a moderate run of orders. While the production exceeds the demand, and there is, thus, a gradual accumulation of stock, the volume of orders is steadily increasing, and there is good reason for believing that it will, within a few months, fairly equal the supply. For a considerable length of time, however, there will be an absence of pressure, such as we had before the panic. Then, all our works were driven, night and day, with restless energy, to meet pressing orders. Now, the nice point is, to keep works running, so as to employ the men, and work material economically, yet not produce largely in excess of the market demand. The outlook does not encourage the belief that there will be an ante-panic pressure for iron, for several years; and, if the Government pursues its present contraction policy, with a view to enforcing specie payments in 1879, we have five years before us of quiet, inactive, and unprofitable markets. If, however, a different policy should be inaugurated, the panic, following the usual law of panics should work out next year. In that event, another year will mark a return of activity.

Both the financial and manufacturing outlook is so complicated, that they are regarded with deep interest and some anxiety by our clearest-minded manufacturers. One element in the manufacturing problem is the fact that within a few years the productive capacity of our mills has exceeded the growth of consumption. We have not added so largely in the number of mills, but the production of the number we have has been largely increased. For example, there was, a short time since, fewer furnaces in blast than there were five years ago, but they produced largely more of iron than did the larger number. So of the manufactories. Improvements have been made, labor-saving processes developed, and productive power increased, until the same number can do largely more than they could a short time since. Hence there must be necessarily a growth in the demand, to keep even what we have fully busy. But right here, another problem comes in. In the West and South, wherever iron and coal can be found, the people, unversed in the problems attending the manufacture of iron, assume that they have only to start manufactories to become great and prosperous manufacturing centres. Whether the iron can be sold at a profit, or sold at all; and all the many complicated questions involved are utterly lost sight of, and the manufactories started. Thus the product steadily increases, and the old centres are compelled, in place of controlling the supply and thus regulating the market, to enter into a contest to break down the weak mills.

It was partly because of this fact that we urged the Government to give us a liberal supply of currency when the panic threatened. We thought, in view of the capital invested in manufactures, it was better to stimulate demand, especially in the line of railroad building, in order that the production might be used, and the country enabled to grow up to its manufacturing facilities. We still think our advice was sound and right. We have lost enough, in the outflow of emigration, and in the limiting of immigration, to cause a serious check upon our manufacturing prosperity. But had the Government judiciously encouraged business, we would have retained our immigrants, and have gradually developed a demand which would have enabled us to tide over the threatened panic. As it is, we have had the full force of the panic developed, and have had all the prostrating influence it was capable of inflicting. Thus our prosperity has been retarded, and our manufacturers, had they not been well-established, would have failed. As it is, they have stood up with surprising strength.

Now, there is a fair degree of activity. In the Lawrenceville and Soho regions, and in all parts of the two rivers fringed with manufactories, there is a strong resemblance to the old, prosperous times. The stacks of the furnaces, and the chimneys of the mills emit their black volumes of smoke, and the puffs of steam and responding blows of the steam hammers are again heard. Parton's old description of "hell with the lid off," will again apply, as descriptive of our manufactories at night. In all this re-awakened activity we have a hopeful outlook for the future. We reason that if our manufacturers were keen enough to forecast the future, and prepare for the panic, and if they have been strong and wise enough to make good their standing through the dark two years that are past, they have enough foresight and strength to go steadily forward, in the future that is opening before us. Thus we have enough to fairly encourage, especially if Centenary year shall result in an influx of money, and a stimulus to trade. At all events the present finds our manufacturers moderately active, with a fair supply of orders.

POLITICAL NOTES.

THE Kentucky Republicans are making strong efforts for a coalition with the grangers of the State, and a union in several counties has been consummated.

THE name of George H. Stuart, of Philadelphia, is mentioned in connection with the Gubernatorial nomination to be made at the Pennsylvania State Temperance Convention this week.

S. S. COX is industriously pushed by a large number of his friends in the Democratic press of Michigan, Iowa, Ohio and New Jersey for the Speakership of the Forty-fourth Congress.

THE Republicans of Somerset have made the following nominations: Prothonotary, F. J. Kooser; Register and Recorder, A. F. Dickey; Sheriff, G. W. Pile; Treasurer, Joseph Keller; County Commissioners, Daniel Phillippi, William Reel; Poor House Director, Isaac Yoder; Auditor, Samuel Smith.

THE Republicans of Blair county have nominated the following ticket: Senator, John A. Lemon; Associate Judges, Chas. J. Mann and Samuel Smith; County Commissioners, Jonathan Slippey and John Halfpenny; Director of the Poor, David Bell; Auditors, B. F. Custer and Frank Henry.

THE Georgia newspapers are conducting a gubernatorial campaign in as spirited a manner as if the election were near at hand. The election will not take place for over a year, yet a host of names are presented as suitable candidates for the Executive chair. The latest name mentioned by the Democrats is that of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston.

THE Republicans of Greene county have placed in nomination the following ticket: Senator, Jacob Rush; Prothonotary, J. N. Grago; Clerk of Courts, John H. Campbell; Register and Recorder, John B. Carter; District Attorney, J. M. Garrison; Commissioner, Captain John Morris; Auditor, W. C. Leonard; Poor House Director, William Grove.

THEY have a great deal of politics to the square inch in Massachusetts. They are discussing the Governorship already, and the following names are mentioned: Congressman Pierce, the Hon. S. H. Rice, the Hon. W. W. Rice, Lieut.-Gov. Knight, Speaker Sanford, Dr. Loring, and ex-Gov. Talbot. The friends of S. H. Rice, Loring and Talbot are said to be the most active.

PHIL. SHERIDAN'S bride is nearly half a head taller than he. But he counterbalances this advantage by keeping his hair cut short.—Brooklyn Argus.

SIR JULIUS BENEDICT, who was in this country with Jenny Lind, has recently been the recipient of a handsome testimonial from the English nobility and gentry, for forty years devotion to the elevation of musical taste in England.

THE late Judge Henry R. Mygatt, of New York State, used to have posted in his office at Oxford this very emphatic notice: "The subscriber signs no recommendations nor remonstrances for political office, nor writes any letters therefor."

LAURA FAIR has been heard from again. This time she asseverates that she did not advise Mr. Loomis to kill Col. Barnes. Laura is certainly improving; but perhaps her previous efforts have scared away custom, and she's trying to hedge a little.

A LARGE share of General Sheridan's wedding feast was stolen from the yard of his father-in-law, on the night of the wedding, but the guests were none the wiser when they sat down to a second supply, somewhat later than had been intended.

THE Hon. F. M. Stone, who has just resigned as Commissioner of State Savings Banks in Massachusetts, has the satisfaction of knowing that there has not been a single case of embezzlement or defalcation in the State savings banks during the time he held the office.

MRS. ELIZABETH CADY STANTON has prepared a new lecture, entitled "Greeley, Seward and Weed," and from her intimate acquaintances with at least two of the members of that notable triad, and her independent opinions concerning them, it cannot fail to be one of the greatest attractions of the next lecture seasons.

MISS THERESA T. VOGLESANG, a granddaughter of the latter William Bishop, one of the wealthiest and most generally respected colored men of Annapolis, Md., was married recently to J. T. Settle, of Mississippi, a graduate of Ohio University, and formerly connected with the Board of Public Works of Washington. The bride has a very fair complexion and is highly accomplished.

TRAGEDIENNES are often tragic without meaning to be. It is related that Miss Charlotte Cushman was recently riding in a Hartford horse car, when, thinking that she had arrived at her destination, she turned to her neighbor and asked in a deep tone, in which there was more of Katherine of England than is usually heard on horse cars: "This is Pleasant street, is it not?" The lady addressed seized her dramatic opportunity with equally tragic effect, and replied: "It is!" There was a roar of merriment, in which Miss Cushman joined as heartily as any.

IT may be interesting to know that the people of this country consumed last year 1,636,335 pounds of arsenic, 789,777 pounds of camphor, 116,953 pounds of jalap, 26,202 pounds of ipecac, 297,213 pounds of nux vomica, and $399,399 worth of vaccine virus, all of which was imported.

THE Liquor Dealers' Association of Connecticut has sent out a confidential circular to the wholesale dealers, asking for contributions in aid of lobby work to secure a reduction of the license fee from $100 to $50, and also force the repeal of the local option clause in the License law.

A PURE white salt is now produced at Alma, Waubunsee county, Kansas, at the rate of about five barrels a day. The brine is pumped from a spring seven hundred feet below the surface, and is so strong that the salt crystalizes by simple exposure to the air. It has been analyzed and found to compare favorably with Michigan salt.

A TERRIBLE tragedy has occurred at Portsmouth, Rhode Island. A husband returned home after a long sojourn in Colorado, and discovered by unquestionable indications that his wife had been unfaithful to him during his absence. Overcome with a sense of shame and disgrace, he immediately killed the guilty woman and then tried to kill himself.

A REMARKABLE landslip has just occurred at Konigshutte, near Kattowitz, Bohemia. The strata lying between the Krug and Erbreich coal-pit shafts fell in with a tremendous crash on the works beneath, to the depth of five hundred feet beneath the surface, and over an area of ten acres. Fortunately no lives were lost, as it was Sunday and no one was in the mine.

A NEW mode of manufacturing screws has been introduced at Edinburg. By this method the screw, instead of being made, as at present, by cutting away the iron of the bolt to leave the thread, is formed by rolling the screw on the bolt blank, while hot. It is claimed for this process that a great saving of time and labor is effected. Recent experiments show that the tensile strength and the holding power, in both soft and hard wood of rolled screws, were considerably greater than those of cut ones.

THE following facts on the duration of life are given on what claims to be good authority: "In ancient Rome, during the period of years between 200 and 300 A. D., the average duration of life among the upper classes was 30 years. In the present century, among the same class of people, it amounts to 50 years. In the sixteenth century the mean duration of life in Geneva was 21.21 years; between 1814 and 1833 it was 40.68 years; and at the present time as many people live to 70 years of age as 300 years ago lived to the age of 43."

IN a recent article on the iron trade of England, the London Times says that signs have not been wanting that it will have to make an effort to keep pace with the iron industry elsewhere. To prove this the Times makes an elaborate examination of the iron manufacture of the United States. It says that of late years the developments of the American iron industries have been both large and continuous, despite the troubles arising from depressed trade and the coal strike; that English exports no longer, as in former years, control the American iron market; and that the English iron trade must bestir itself if it wishes still to command other markets, and especially its own in which it has already found formidable rivals.

A TERRIBLE DISASTER.

The Fatal Collision in the China Seas.

Papers received by the China mail bring particulars of the collision which occurred on Sunday, the 4th of April, between the China Coast Steam Navigation Company's steamer Ocean and the China Merchant Steam Navigation Company's steamer Fusing, on the voyage between Shaghai and Tientsin. The Fusing sank immediately, fifty-five of those on board were drowned. The North China Daily News says:

"The weather was calm at the time, but a dense fog prevailed, and the sea was rising in a heavy though unbroken swell. The Fusing was going almost dead slow, when suddenly the sound of a steam whistle was heard, and almost as suddenly was seen the form of a large vessel bearing dead on to her. The order was given to back stern at full speed, but before the effect of the engines could be well felt the stranger vessel struck the Fusing just about the fore-rigging, and such was the force of the blow that the whole of her force compartment was cut completely asunder. The scene that then ensued was dreadful. The Fusing had about 125 people, including passengers, on board, and almost before a boat could be launched she went down head foremost. Many of the people were in the forecastle, some asleep, and as she dived into the sea some of the poor people were seen running along her decks to avoid the waters that were rushing after them. Fortunately, at least in this instance, she had some deck cargo, consisting of spars of wood, and these floating as she sank were the means of salvation to a goodly number of the people on board. Captain Andrews managed to get one boat afloat, and into this were soon crammed about twenty-six of the passengers and crew; and, to the honor of those on board the Ocean be it said, that vessel stopped her engines, stood by, and, lowering her boats, saved about thirty more of the unfortunates, who by this time were either floating in the water or on the spars washed from the deck of the Fusing. Still, there were many whom it was impossible to save. Some were either killed in the forecastle by being crushed by the bows of the Ocean, or were so dreadfully injured as to be incapable of doing anything to save themselves, and in this manner some seventy or more found a watery grave. The Ocean herself received such severe injury that had the weather been in any degree rough, it is more than probable she would not have lived to reach port. As it was, a large hole was knocked in her bows, and her fore compartment was filled with water, but luckily the bulkhead stood firm, and so another catastrophe was prevented. The sad affair happened about 120 miles north of Shaweishan Island. Favored with continued calm weather, the Ocean reached Woosung before the gale of Monday night came on, or, it is believed by those on board, she must have sunk, and therefore the tale of disaster could not have been told."

LOVE AND DEATH.

The Fate of an Estimable Young Lady whose Passion was Unrequited.

The suspicions aroused by the death of Miss Ada Marble, the young lady who was drowned in the millford at Harmony, Me., Sunday evening a week, that she had been the victim of foul play, have proved unfounded, and a tragic tale of hopeless love has been brought to light. Miss Marble, who was the daughter of a well-to-do farmer in West Ripley, Me., was a school teacher, and was deeply in love with her cousin, James Farrer, owner of the mills at Mainstream, a little village near Harmony. A week ago last Saturday evening she told her parents that she was going to her uncle John Laughton's, who lives a mile distant from her home, to spend the night. Instead of stopping at her uncle's house she went on to Harmony, five miles beyond, where she had many relatives. She visited her aunt, Nancy Farrer, mother of the young man she loved, and stayed there a week. She was melancholy and dejected, and often told her friends that that would be her last visit with them. They asked her whither she was going, and she replied that it was a secret, but that they would know in a little while. On Sunday evening she went out for a walk. She was not seen again till her body was taken from the pond which turns the wheels of James Farrer's mills. A letter was found in the corner of her dress directed to James, and in it she said "that he had never told her that he loved her, but that she loved him with all her heart, and that she could not live in this world without him."

SWEENY.

Romance Concerning His Wife.

Sweeny—whose direct connection with the Ring of robberies has just been brought to light—is living in Paris, neither more nor less communicative than he was in the old days. That he was not given to confidence may be inferred from the fact that in 1871 Tweed didn't know that he was married—albeit he had been married for several years. Concerning Sweeny's wife there is a romance which has never been told in print, and which we may briefly outline in this connection. Those who saw her in her youth pronounced her the handsomest woman in the world. Her home was in Albany. She traveled abroad, and in Rome she met Page, the artist, who fell passionately in love with her and proclaimed her his wife—notwithstanding the fact that he had another wife living. She deserted him after a time for the company of an Italian nobleman, who gave her a home which was a palace, and lavished his wealth upon her. Sweeny, traveling abroad, met her and won her heart. They were married, and she returned to this country with him, but she did not take up her abode in his New York city residence. He fitted up a house for her on the Hudson (Lake Mahopac?) and there occasionally he invited his friends to a dinner party. But none among them suspected that their fair hostess was his wife. She has proved more devoted to Sweeny in his misfortunes than to her other lovers in their prosperity. But Worth makes her dresses, and the Sweeny exchequer is not exhausted.—Utica Observer.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, June 14, 1875.

There was less activity than usual at the banks Saturday, attributable to several causes. The storm, the fire, and politics were disturbing agencies. Yet the business fair, the demand moderate, and the general outlook tolerably favorable. The activity in the loan market has been gradually lessening since the first of the month, and it is evident that the summer quiet is fairly inaugurated. The clearings of the banks remain at a higher figure than usual in such times of dullness. This is attributable to the operations in cash grain, large amounts of which have lately changed hands. The difference between the price of cash property and that for future delivery has not been large enough to leave any profit in carrying, and parties who bought toward the end of last month, when there was a profitable difference, are now unloading. Merchants report that collections are not to be complained of, but extra diligence in making them is exerted. The requirements of trade for loans are light, and the miscellaneous demand is indifferent.

—The New York Journal of Commerce, in its Wednesday issue, gives this succinct review of the state of trade in New York: General trade is quiet. In grain there have been some liberal purchases of wheat for export, and prices are working up a little. In flour the shipments have been large, and chiefly to the West Indies, induced by easier figures. The provision trade is slow for export, and prices have been steadily yielding. In cotton the export trade is moderate, orders not being urgent, and partly obstructed by the favorable crop prospects. In wool there were large dealings in clips from the South and California at modified prices. Shearing has commenced at the West, and some parcels have been sold there at prices indicating strong views of owners. The grocery trade has been without especial life during the week, and there is general complaint of light orders from interior buyers. The metal trade is greatly depressed, and prices are down below the cost of importation for foreign goods, while manufacturing is at a stand.

—Some figures have been published purporting to show that the trade of Baltimore has decreased during the last year, and intended to convey the impression that that city has been injured by the extension of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and the subsequent close competition with the Pennsylvania and New York roads. The figures were correct, but, for all that, they were made to lie. The export trade of the whole country decreased very greatly in 1874, and the shrinkage still goes on. For instance, the recently published abstract of the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics of foreign trade for April shows both the imports and exports to be less in 1875 than in 1874 or 1873. The comparison, extended to ten-month periods in each year, ending with April, shows the same result. The statement with regard to Baltimore trade, of which we speak, suppresses this fact, and attempts to make people believe that the loss in trade is peculiar to Baltimore. The truth is that Baltimore has done better than other ports.

NEW YORK, June 12, 1875.

Money closed at 2 per cent. on call. Foreign exchange was firm during the afternoon. Leading bankers advanced the official asking rates to 488 and 491. No business for to-day's packet was done above 487¼ and 490 net. Prime commercial paper is quoted at 3½@5 per cent. Gold opened at 116⅞, and closed at 116⅞, at which all transactions of the day were made. The carrying rates were 1@2 per cent. Loans were also made flat. The clearings were $31,000,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed to-day $2,000,000, of which $1,656 were paid out on account of the sixteenth call for bonds. The customs receipts were $197,000. Governments closed firm. Railroad securities were dull in late afternoon dealings. State bonds are quiet and nominal.

Stocks were strong at the opening, on a general belief that the railroad war was virtually at an end. Later on the whole list fell off, but afterward rallied, and advanced ¼@1½ per cent., and then became irregular, and continued so until late in the afternoon, when western stocks became weak, particularly Northwest common and St. Paul common. The general list was very dull, a large number of operators having gone to the Jerome races.

The Pacific Mail directors met for the purpose of considering the question of raising money to meet the maturing installments on account of three iron steamers now building and also to pay off the Panama loan. After discussion, the matter was referred to the Executive Committee, with power.

The decline in Northwestern common and preferred was based on rumors that the company intended to make a fresh issue of stock. A story was also started that the St. Paul Company intended to issue new stock, which was without the slightest foundation in truth. Stocks at the close were steadier, with a recovery of ¼ to 1½ per cent. from the decline before noticed. Northwestern and St. Paul led the market in the recovery. The transactions to-day aggregated 188,000 shares, of which 10,500 were Erie, 90,000 Lake Shore, 17,000 Northwestern, 14,000 Pacific Mail, 8,000 St. Paul, 3,000 Ohios, 22,500 Western Union and 13,000 Union Pacific.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 12, 1875.

The fact that the weather has been about all that could possibly be desired for vegetation, and the growing crops having picked up wonderfully within the past week or two, has exerted a healthful influence upon general business, and there is a more hopeful feeling in regard to the immediate future of the markets in consequence. For a time it looked as if, in addition to hard times, we were destined to have short crops, but there is now little or no apprehension felt on this score. It is one of the most encouraging signs of the times to know that the farmers are in good shape, that, in addition to good crops, they realized remunerative prices for all their products.

APPLES—Dull, in consequence of the market being well supplied with fresh fruits and vegetables, and in addition, they will soon be out of season; quotable at $1@5 ⅌ bbl for common to choice.

APPLE BUTTER—50@55c ⅌ gal.

BEANS—There is a fair local demand, and the receipts have fallen off considerably recently, but with a supply fully equal to the demand prices are maintained; mediums, $1,75 to 1,85; navies, $1,90 to $2.

BUTTER—The receipts are not to say large for this particular time of the year, but the consumption is falling off, and prices are weak with a drooping tendency—holders generally are anxious to realize. Prime to choice solid packed, in firkins and tubs, 20@22; choice rolls, 23@25.

CHEESE—Prime Ohio Factory 11@11½c. Our latest advices from New York report that market firmer, and, if sustained, it will have its effect here. There is not much inquiry in this market, except for best grades.

DRIED FRUIT—Apples selling at 7@8, with a very fair demand, while Peaches are reported dull at 10@10½.

EGGS—Some dealers report that they have no difficulty in realizing 20c for choice brands, while others again say it is difficult to obtain over 19c, no matter how fresh.

FLOUR—We have to report a continued weak and dull market, but, so far as we could learn, there has been no quotable change in prices for several days past. We continue to quote, in a jobbing way, as follows: Spring Wheat flours, $5,75@6,25, the outside figure for choice Minnesota (baker) flour; Winter wheat, $6@6,25 for red and $6,50@7 for amber and white. Rye flour $6@6,25.

GROCERIES—The grocery trade continues dull, as it usually is at this season of the year, and it is not likely there will be any material improvement until next month, or for that matter after harvest. Both Sugars and Coffee continue firm but unchanged. Stock of Coffee in first hands in New York, June 10, 33,610 bags; at Baltimore 12,606 bags, at Galveston 4,000 bags, and at Savannah 4,000 bags; afloat and loading for New York, 44,-000 bags; other ports in the United States, 23,500 bags; total stock and supplies for all ports of the United States, 122,216 bags.

GRAIN—Dealers all agree in reporting the grain market dull and unsatisfactory; that in addition to a limited demand and slow collections, the most of the grain, particularly Corn and Oats, coming forward during the past week or two, has had to be sold at a loss. Wheat continues quiet and unchanged; Penna. and Ohio red $1,25@1,30; ditto amber and white, $1,33@1,35. The Oat market continues dull, and while dealers generally are still holding prime white at 70c, it is said to be hard to obtain that figure, and it is reported that sales on consignment have been made within the past day or two at 68. Some dealers are unwilling to sell at current rates—they have resolved to hold and take more or less. Ear Corn continues dull but unchanged; quotable at 76@78 for mixed to prime. Yellow Shelled is still held at 68@80, free in elevator, but there is little or no demand for it. Rye, quiet at $1,15.

HAY—The market for bailed is steady, and we are reported regular sales on track at $22@24 for fair to prime timothy.

MILL FEED—Continues dull and prices are weak, with a stronger disposition to realize. Bran quotable at $19@20 ⅌ ton.

POTATOES—The market is reported steady at 80@85c ⅌ bushel for prime Peach Blows on track and 95@$1 from store.

PROVISIONS—The market is unsettled, as there have been considerable fluctuations in the leading western markets, but there is a very fair jobbing trade and prices are still maintained.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 12, 1875.

PITTSBURGH CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

FREIGHTS.

Rumors have been current for some time past that the railroad war, so far at least as relates to the live stock carrying trade, is to be brought to a close soon, and if so, an advance in rates will be in order. Whether these rumors mean a compromise between the Penna. Central and the Baltimore & Ohio or the Penna. Central and New York Central and Erie, or all combined, we are not prepared to state, but we should not be surprised if there was something at the bottom of these rumors, as it is not likely that the railroads will continue much longer to carry stock at current ruinous rates. So far as the stock trade are concerned, it makes but little difference what the rates are so they are uniform and adhered to, but they do object to the system of drawbacks which has become very common of late years. There is no question, we think, but it would be much better for the railroads if they were to abolish these much complained of drawbacks, thereby making every dealer stand upon his merits and refusing to give one an advantage over another. It is no particular advantage to dealers to have very low rates; all they desire is uniformity and equality. The current low freights have been of no particular benefit to any one except the producers, as the reduction in the cost of transportation is nearly always added to the cost of stock at the source of supply. We are not advised of any change having been made from here eastward; 17½c per cwt. to Philadelphia and Baltimore, and 20c to New York; or $35 and $40 per car.

ARRIVALS.

Following were the arrivals of live stock at these yards for the week, and, to afford a comparison, we append those of last week also:

	This week.	Last week.
Cattle	447 cars.	387 cars.
Hogs	136 "	177 "
Sheep	100 "	63 "

CATTLE.

The run was the largest we have had for some time, footing up 447 cars, of which 340 were through consignments and 107 cars local, against 291 cars of through and 76 cars of local stock last week; sales 1,573 head against 1,334 last week. However, there was an increased demand, about all the native cattle found buyers at an advance of 15@20 cts per cwt, as compared with the preceding week. Included in the receipts were quite a number of through Cherokees for which the demand was light, and the most of them went on in first hands. Eastern buyers appear determined to give them a wide berth at anything like present prices, and the general outlook warrants the prediction that the market for this particular kind of stock is likely to rule considerably lower. There were quite a number of "stillers" on sale together with a fair sprinkling of "grassers," but they met with a ready sale at very satisfactory prices. Sales were made at from 7,25@7,60 for extra graded steers, averaging from 1,500@1,600 lb; 6½@7 for medium to good, and 5@6 for common to fair. Several droves of good 1,100 stillers were sold at 6,75@6,80, and grassers may be quoted at 5@6⅛, according to quality. Philadelphia bought some 50 odd cars this week, the largest number bought to go to that point for a considerable time, and as the supply in the eastern part of the State is about exhausted, there will be an increased demand here for that market from this on.

HOGS.

The run during the week was comparatively light, 133 cars, against 177 cars last week, but with a diminished demand the market has not improved much. There has been a very fair demand for good light Yorkers, even and smooth, and, as compared with the early part of the week, prices are rather better, with very few remaining in the yards to-day unsold; rough heavy Yorkers were dull. The demand for Philadelphia hogs was light all week, but the market has stiffened up somewhat within the past two or three days, and prices are 10@15 cents ⅌ cwt better than on Tuesday or Wednesday; as regards Baltimore hogs there was no inquiry whatever, as that market was overstocked and exceedingly unsatisfactory to sellers. Yorkers may be quoted at 7,15@7,40, and Philadelphia hogs at 7,75@7,85. The hog product continues unsettled, with indications of a further decline, and this is not without its effect upon the hog market, as the two interests are closely identified.

SHEEP.

The run, as will be seen, was a large one, footing up 100 cars for the week, and this, in connection with unfavorable advices from New York, caused a dull, and, to sellers, very unsatisfactory market. Prices, as compared with this day week, may be quoted fully 25c ⅌ cwt lower, the market closing dull at the decline. Extra 105@110 lb sheep quotable at 5⅛@5⅛; prime 90@100 lbs, 5@5⅛; 70@80 lbs, 4⅛@4⅞. Lambs ranged all the way from 5@8c, as to quality and condition.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 12, 1875.

REVIEW FOR THE WEEK.

Trade has been exceedingly quiet, so far as our market was concerned, during the past week, and, in a general way, the market presents but little that is really new or important. Our refiners, so far as we have been able to learn, have done little or nothing in the way of selling for a couple of weeks past, but that they are still buying pretty freely of the raw article is evident from the continued liberal receipts. The fact that there was considerable oil sold in the east on Wednesday or Thursday occasioned a good deal of comment; it looked as if there was a persistent effort being made from some quarter to keep down prices, and there are those who surmise that it is from within the combination. Pittsburgh refiners since they went into the combination, have acted in good faith, and they expect those of Cleveland, New York, and Philadelphia to do likewise; it is possible that they may be mistaken in their surmises, but it must be conceded that these large sales, under existing circumstances and surroundings, were sufficient to create this feeling of suspicion—that there was a leak somewhere. There has been little or no change in the Crude market during the past week, the fluctuation in prices was unusually light, not exceeding 5 cents ⅌ bbl. The most notable event of the week was the striking of a 1,200 barrel well; there is not much doubt but the yield was exaggerated, as is nearly always the case, and our latest advices put it at 400 barrels ⅌ day. The daily production has not varied much recently; estimated at 22,000 to 22,600 barrels, and, as might be expected, in view of the depressed condition of the business, development is not being pushed forward very vigorously.

CRUDE.

The Crude market was rather firmer to-day, and prices a shade higher; immediate shipment was quoted at $1,42½@1,43¾. The prospects at this writing are favorable for river navigation, but as the pipe companies still adhere to their determination not to load any more oil into barges, it is not likely that there will be much, if any, brought by river, even if there should be water.

REFINED.

The Refined market was firmer to-day, but there was nothing done that we could learn of; refiners hereabouts are refusing to sell at the rates. On Connellsville cars to go to Baltimore, sales could probably have been made at 10½, which is ⅛ to ½c ⅌ gallon less than refiners are willing to sell at. There were also bids to buy at 13 5-16 delivered in Philadelphia, with sellers asking from 14 to 14¼.

OIL BARRELS.

The Barrel trade has been very dull, in sympathy with the oil business, but prices have undergone no change for several days; countries, (10 lb hoops) $1,15; city make, (10 lb hoops) $1,30.

The Iron Trade.

The following from the last British Board of Trade returns shows how large has been the decline in that most important of Great Britain's industries, the iron trade. The total exports of iron and Steel from Great Britain in the last four years, and in the first four months of 1875, were:

Year.	Tons.	Value.
1871	3,169,219	£26,124,134
1872	3,388,622	36,960,547
1873	2,959,314	37,779,586
1874	2,387,162	31,225,350
1875 (four months)	710,733	8,174,909

The increasingly high prices had already begun to exercise an unfavorable influence on the export trade, when the [illegible] in the United States at the beginning of the last quarter of the year suddenly stopped American orders. A season of depression followed, and it has continued to the present time. The average value of iron shipped in 1873 was over near £ 3 a ton. It has fallen to [illegible] in 1875 without increasing the demand. If the [illegible] of certain qualities of iron were compared, the decrease would be found to be much greater.

Under such circumstances the manufacturers have been losing money quite rapidly, and at last which they have been refused the bank accommodation they have enjoyed so long, and the result is seen in the failure of a large number of iron companies. Indeed, it is possible that the manufacture of Great Britain may be so injured by the losses from various causes which do not operate so heavily against American manufacturers that the supremacy in the iron trade may be transferred to the United States.

The Reading Times says: "Between 13,000 and 15,000 tons of first-class anthracite pig iron are now held in store at this place, of an aggregate value of about $400,000. The iron has been obtained from the furnaces throughout the Schuylkill and Lehigh Valley, and considerable of it is held as collateral for money advanced by foreign capitalists. A portion of it is owned by English parties and a considerable portion by the Pennsylvania Railroad. It will be held until an advance is made in the price of iron, when it will be thrown upon the market."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

BOATS LEAVING TO-DAY.

Wheeling—Mallie Ragon, 1 P. M.

THE stage of water last evening was three feet eight inches, a decline of twenty inches as compared with Saturday, when the marks indicated five feet two inches.

THE tow boats Smoky City and John A. Wood have arrived.

THE Utah was advertised to leave St. Louis for this port on Saturday.

THE John F. Dravo has gone to Cincinnati after a tow of empty barges.

The Mallie Ragon is the regular packet for Wheeling to-day, leaving promptly at 1 P. M.

THE Exchange arrived at Cincinnati on Friday night, and was advertised to return on Saturday.

THE Fannie Tatum, from St. Louis to Pittsburgh, left Cincinnati on Friday. Joseph Alexander and George Littleton are her pilots.

SILVER MOON is the name of the new boat being built by the owners of the Humming Bird, for the Gallipolis and Pomeroy trade. She is 106 feet long and 20 feet wide.

THE Sam. Cravens has been chartered by some parties and is undergoing thorough repairing. We understand Mr. H. C. Eastham will adorn her roof. They contemplate putting her in the Ironton and Gallipolis trade.

THE John L. Rhoads arrived on Saturday morning from St. Louis with a very fair trip, about all she could bring on the water. She towed a barge from Pomeroy to Beaver Shoals. As will be seen by card she is announced for a return trip forthwith. Capt. J. M. Vandergrift is in command and Messrs. Fisher and Greenlee are associated together in the office.

THE New Orleans Picayune, of Wednesday, says: "A case was called yesterday before Commissioner Weller where a negro wishes to get damages for assault and battery against Capt. Stein, Harry Stein, and mate of the Chas. Morgan. The captain and mate were dismissed, and Harry Stein, the clerk of the Morgan, was bailed out on $300 to appear next December."

THE John Gilmore, with a tow of pig iron, old boilers, engines, etc., etc., passed Louisville on Friday, en route for Pittsburgh. The Louisville Courier says:—In looking at the pilot-house of the John Gilmore yesterday, we discovered Barney Seales at the wheel. His head was shaved and he wore a broad-brimmed hat. Barney looked like the potato bugs had been in his hair, and that gave him the appearance of Big Mouth Bill, the Comanche chief.

THE following named tow boats were in port yesterday: Battle, J. H. Bigley, Resolute, John Dippold, Tom Dodsworth, Panther, Diamond, Grand Lake, Dick Fulton No. 3, Tigress, Boaz, Hercules, Lioness, Ark, Blue Lodge, Smoky City, Sam Miller, Sam Parker, Fearless, Tom Rees, Jas. Gilmore, Reindeer, Clipper, Hornet No. 2, Hawk. L. W. Morgan, Park Painter, Jas. Jackson, Wm. Stone, Andy Fulton, Coal Valley, Maggie Smith, D. Newcomb, Stella, Gipsey, Enterprise, Whale, Charley McDonald and Sam. Clarke.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch, under date of Friday, says:—The stockholders of the Keokuk Northern Line held their meeting to-day, but transacted no business of interest to the public. Capt. William Rhodes and B. F. Campbell, Directors, leave for Chicago to-morrow night. Com. R. C. Gray remains here a few days. The Thomas Sherlock leaves for the Ohio River at daylight. The Utah has not yet decided whether to load for Pittsburgh. She is still prospecting. The Great Republic is not to have a new hull, as several papers have it. Captain Thorwegan is talking of building her new from the forward end of the boilers aft, but nothing more. From the fire doors forward the boat is nearly new, and he proposes to build on to that. Business dull. Rates unchanged.

HOME NEWS.

Pockets Picked.

On Saturday evening, a lady named Mrs. Miller, who resides on East street, Allegheny, had her pocket picked of her pocket book, containing a small sum of money, in the Allegheny market-house. Another lady had her pocket picked of $4.50 while attending an auction sale on Ohio street, near James street.

Railroad Collision.

About six o'clock yesterday morning two freight trains on the Connellsville railroad collided at Pinkerton station, above Ursina, in Somerset county. No one was hurt, but about a dozen freight cars were destroyed. The express train, due here at 11:35 o'clock yesterday forenoon, was, in consequence of the accident, detained until 1:30 P. M.

Supposed Suicide.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon a man was seen walking around the neighborhood of the Allegheny river and railroad bridge, but no attention was paid to him. About an hour afterwards a full suit of clothes were found lying on one of the piers of that bridge, and as there was no person bathing at that time, it is supposed that the party first seen had undressed and been drowned while bathing or else committed suicide.

Temperance Cadets.

At a meeting of the temperance cadets attached to St. Paul's Cathedral, held yesterday afternoon, the following persons were elected to serve as officers for the ensuing term: President, C. H. Houston; Vice President, Daniel Duffy; Treasurer, Rev. George Grace; Assistant Treasurer, Wm. Mulvey; Secretary, P. J. D. Foley; Chief Marshal, T. Caveny; Assistant Marshals, M. Kelly, Hugh Duffy.

Runaway.

About one o'clock yesterday morning, a horse attached to a buggy ran off on Sixth street, near Penn, and both the occupants of the buggy, William Shriver and John Forrester, were thrown out and badly bruised. The horse continued on across the bridge, and up Federal street, in Allegheny, to Jefferson street, when he broke loose from the buggy, and continued on towards Butler county.

"Secret Societies."

Rev. R. W. Pearson, of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, preached last night on "Secret Societies." He had an immense audience, every seat in the church being occupied, the aisles filled, the entrances crowded, and hundreds unable to obtain admission were obliged to leave. He took for his text the 21st verse of the 2d chapter of Matthew, "Render unto Cæsar the [illegible] that are Cæsar's, and unto God the [illegible] that are God's," and preached a very [illegible] sermon. He said that secret societies were the result of the failure of the Church of Christ to perform its whole duty; they take up and perform the neglected functions of the Church, and he argued from that they cannot be wholly wrong. The way to suppress them is for the Church to do its entire duty. He said that half the Baptist ministers in Pittsburgh belong to secret organizations.

A Worthy Successor.

Some men are native to their profession, hence their success and popularity; and of which class may justly be reckoned the late lamented, Alex. McIlwaine, whose superior native tact and studied acquirements so peculiarly fitted for him for the satisfactory discharge of his duties. But, we have incidentally learned that many of our citizens having urgently solicited Mr. Jno. D. Bailey, the Real Estate and Stock Broker, to venture on the vacancy, he has procured a license and instituted negotiations, looking to the securing of Mr. McIlwaine's Auction House on Smithfield street.

This project of Mr. Bailey (as we have taken the pains to learn) is in full accord with all parties who desire that the mantle of deceased should fall on worthy shoulders. Mr. Bailey is eminently fitted for the position, possessing, as he does, most excellent business qualifications, with the reputable qualities of honor and integrity, and a wise judgment and discretion, which added to a pleasing address and affability of manner, have gained him hosts of friends, and secured for him the discharge of many fiduciary trusts, which have always been adjusted with general satisfaction and that he must be highly popular and successful in this new enterprise no one can, for a moment, doubt.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Fatal Accident at Dunbar, Fayette County.

On Saturday Michael Cooley was run over by an ore car at Dunbar, Fayette county, on the Connellsville railroad, and almost instantly killed. He was sitting under the car sheltering himself from the rain when another car from a train that was backing in became detached and collided with the one Cooley was under, throwing him forward with his side and arm on the track. His left side and lung were frightfully crushed. He lived only about an hour after the accident. He leaves a wife and two children.

STABBING ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

An Affray at the American House—Escape of the Perpetrator.

James Liddy was very seriously stabbed on Saturday night about half-past ten o'clock at the American House, at the corner of Liberty street and Cherry alley, by James Farrell. A party of ten or twelve men, telegraph constructors for the Western Union Telegraph Company, were there, and among them were Liddy and Farrell. The latter, it is said, has long entertained a grudge against the former, and he tried all evening, it is alleged, to pick a quarrel with him and finally succeeding, he fed his grudge by inflicting a number of stabs upon him with a knife. The wounded man was taken to the Mercy Hospital where his hurts, which are painful but not dangerous, were attended to. Farrell escaped, and has not yet been arrested. The only person taken into custody was Jno. Curry, and as no evidence was adduced to establish his connection with the affair, he was discharged.

DISAPPEARED.

Supposed to Have been Drowned.

On Saturday evening a man named Ed. Crummie, who was very much intoxicated, was seen wandering along the Allegheny river bank, near Lindsay & McCutcheon's rolling mill, in Allegheny, by a private watchman, and as he knew that Crummie had no home or place to stay, he assisted him into the office on S. Grier & Co.'s coal float, which was moored near there and left him there to go to sleep. Just before going off duty yesterday morning, he went down to the float to awake Crummie, but he was not there, and as his hat was found lying there he at once supposed he had been drowned and notified the neighbors. A search was made for him, but he could not be found, and the work of dragging the river was commenced, but up to nine o'clock last evening the body had not yet been recovered. Crummie was a teamster by occupation, but has had nothing to do for some time past and has been drinking considerable.

THE CHILDRENS' GALA DAY.

The Jubilee to be Held on the 25th Instead of the 30th Inst.

The Committee on Special Instruction of the Allegheny Board of School Controllers held a special meeting on Saturday evening and resolved to change the day of the childrens' jubilee from Wednesday, June 30th, to Friday, the 25th inst. The former day was originally fixed upon, but it was learned that the Great Western Band could not be present then, owing to previous engagements, and it was decided to change the day so as to afford it an opportunity to be present. The following was also adopted by the committee.

Resolved, That the local schools board of the city of Allegheny are hereby requested to make arrangements for a full turn out of their pupils on the occasion of the annual jubilee on the 25th inst.

There is every prospect that the ensuing jolification of the school children will, should the day prove auspicious, be the best of any yet held. The final arrangements will be completed sometime this week, and we understand that it is proposed to have a grand march of all the pupils within the park enclosure before the order to break ranks is given, and certainly a prettier sight than six or seven thousand pupils in line, eight abreast, could hardly be seen. The music for the occasion will be furnished by five or six bands.

A BLAZE AT SEWICKLEY.

A Call for Help—The Town Reported in Danger.

This morning about half past two o'clock a dispatch was received at the Western Union Telegraph office in this city, from Sewickley, calling for help from our Fire Department. The dispatch gave no particulars, but stated that two houses were burning in the town, and that a general conflagration was feared. Hose were needed, and a request was made that 600 feet of hose be sent down. A "still alarm" was sounded from City Hall to call Chief Hamill, and the Chief with the department in [illegible] minutes was at the Hall. When the [illegible] was explained he detailed the Neptune carriage for the service, and the [illegible] ferred by [illegible] taken to the depot to be transferred [illegible] ulars were [illegible] train. A POLITICAL FIELD DAY.

The Primaries on Saturday—A Fine Day for Work Around the Polls—A Generally Fair Expression of Opinion—Speculating on the Result—Meagre Returns Received.

The Republican primary elections came off on Saturday and the occasion proved to be a field day in politics. There has seldom been a year in which more interest seemed to be felt in the primaries, and the amount of work done on Saturday indicated that the candidates and their friends were fully aroused and were putting out all their strength. The day was a delightful one for work around the polls. The storm in the morning was generally looked upon as a pleasant dispensation for the especial benefit of the workers, and the cool weather which resulted from the storm certainly had a salutary influence all around—as was evidenced by the generally quiet, though earnest feeling which prevailed.

The hours fixed for the Primaries were from four to seven in the afternoon, and in most instances the polls were promptly opened. In a few instances in the city, where the feeling ran high, there was a little delay in getting the machinery into order, and in one instance—that of the Fourteenth ward—we believe there was a "bolt," which will give the Conventions some work to do in deciding upon the delegates from that district. Contests are also reported from some other localities, through alleged irregularities—the contests being rather more numerous this year than at any other primaries for some time. In these contests, however the whole ticket is not included. In the majority of instances there is a contest upon but one of the delegates, and so the convention into which such a delegate goes, will alone have to wrestle with the question as to who has the best claim to the seat. Nothwithstanding these little breezes, however, as a general rule, everything was done decently and in order. In a few cases the monotony of affairs was agreeably broken by the music of the warwhoop, and some of the workers were compelled to work off a little of their exuberant spirits, liquid and otherwise, by scientific displays in the manly art, but none of them furnished a good job for a surgeon, and so it may be said all was comparatively serene.

It would be expanding the truth to its outmost verge to say, however, that while these favoring influences were at work, the spirit of colonization did not, to a limited extent at least, prevail. The little colonizing, however, that was allowed, was pretty freely distributed among all the candidates; so that it would require the cuticle of that insurance agent who fell on his cheek from a fifth story window and rose smiling, for any one candidate to gently chide his opponent on this score. It is but fair to say, however, that there was very little of this colonization allowed and whenever it was discovered it was promptly squetched. In one case a gang of twenty-five gentlemen of repeating proclivities passed from polls to polls, but they were soon detected and their operations stopped. They were only successful at two places. Early in the day they gave up the game in disgust. Another party, later in the day, in the interest of another candidate, tried the same game but met with similar ill luck and so gave up the attempt. There were too many rival interests at stake to permit much "outside" work, and hence the result of the Primaries is an unusually fair expression of the popular will.

The returns come in very slowly, and it will be impossible to give a correct estimate of the result possibly before the Conventions meet. There are so many delegates, so many districts, and so many different candidates, that the best estimate that can be given is as yet but guess-work. Presuming, however, that our readers understand, that up to last night at twelve o'clock, each candidate considered his "chances good," we append what we believe to be a pretty fair estimate from the returns thus far.

SHERIFF.

The contest for Sheriff has proven even livelier than was anticipated, and the result is yet one of blissful uncertainty. It undoubtedly centres however in Diehl, Lindsay and Fife, and each of this trio is sure that later returns will bring him out ahead. Diehl's friends say that from the cities and a few boroughs they can run him up above 60, with several delegates from points where he did not count much on them. Lindsay last night figured up 55 delegates, with several contests in which he expects to win. He has no returns from the rural districts, and counts enough from these quarters to pull him through. Fife comes up with a fair showing in the cities, having 17 delegates; his strength, however, it has been conceded all along, lays in the country districts and his friends claim that they will bring him out even. Cluley takes some delegates in the city and expects to pull up, when the rural districts are heard from, so as to go into the Convention and be on hand if a compromise candidate is needed. The returns, however, though thus so mixed, indicate that no candidate will have enough on the first ballot and that the Sheriff's Convention will be a lively place to-morrow.

"WALK OVER."

There are two candidates who will have a "walk over." Controller Warner goes over the course without any trouble—though this was just as was expected from the first. "Billy" McCleary, for Clerk of Courts, has the same good fortune, and carries the belt without opposition.

RECORDER.

For Recorder, Richardson makes the best showing in the city, and so far as heard from, but Varner's friends claim that his strength, which lays in the country districts, has not been shown because there are so few returns from these districts. Richardson's friends, however, claim that with Pittsburgh and Allegheny almost a unit for him, and with the showing he has outside, that no strength Varner can muster can win. Both sides talked confidently last night, although the showing was decidedly in favor of Richardson.

REGISTER.

The Registership seems to be a plum that is destined to go to Gray,—who has given such satisfaction in the past. His chief opponent will be, judging from present appearances, Case, who claims, in all, from the cities some fifty delegates. Brown's friends claim for him fifty delegates although it would seem that these figures are a little high. Allen comes fourth on the list; he unexpectedly fell off in some quarters where strength was expected, and unless the country districts do better by him, will be greatly behind. Gray's friends claim however, that he will make the landing on the first ballot, and all the figures point that way.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

For County Commissioner the friends of Messrs. Beckert and McClelland are indulging in felicitations. Beckert last night counted up 130 districts, more than enough to nominate—75 from Pittsburgh, 27 from Allegheny, and 28 from the boroughs and townships. McClelland's friends claimed that he would lead the ticket. He claimed over 140 delegates last night, his returns being mainly from private sources. Murray's figures could not be had, but it is understood that he comes up very close, and his friends were in no wise discouraged, but talked very confidently of his chances. It looks as though there would be considerable animation in this Convention to-morrow and that there would be a very pretty triangular fight.

RUMORS.

Such were the indications up to last accounts last night, but the situation of affairs may be, and doubtless will be, materially changed by the returns to-day. The lack of anything very definite from the rural districts leaves the whole matter open. There were many rumors afloat as to the success of this and that candidate, and of startling combinations, but they were generally of a character entirely too gauzy to be worthy of attention. It is pretty certain that in some of the close contests the result cannot be foreshadowed until to-morrow, and then it will take the Conventions to decide. In the meantime, the political world, locally, will be in a ferment, and the people generally will only be interested in having a good ticket put into the field.

THE CONVENTIONS.

The Conventions will meet to-morrow according to call.

In accordance with party usages, the chairman of the Republican County Executive Committee, Samuel P. Fulton, Esq., has designated members to call the several Conventions to order, as follows:

No. 1, Sheriff, C. S. Fetterman.

No. 2, Recorder and Register, Hon. J. C. Newmyer.

No. 3, Clerk of Courts and Director of the Poor, Col. Thomas M. Bayne.

No. 4, Controller and Commissioner, Captain John Gilfillan.

FATAL SHOOTING ACCIDENT.

A Boy While Practicing Pistol Shooting Misses his Mark—The Ball Strikes a Young Man, Causing Almost Instant Death.

A fatal shooting accident occurred in the Twelfth ward on Saturday, which resulted in almost instant death to a young man named James H. Mackeral, who was working in the Culmer Car-Spring works at the corner of Liberty and Twenty-sixth streets. Early in the morning Richard Christian, aged about seventeen years, and whose mother lives on River avenue, Allegheny, contracted with Edward Duffey for a single barreled pistol for two dollars. Desiring to try it, young Christian procured a few cartridges and with his newly purchased firearm in hand, selected a point between the machine shops of McConway, Torley & Co., and the car works as the place where he would do the shooting. Having put up a target on a post against the Culmer works building, he stepped back about five feet when he fired, missing the mark, the ball passing through the thin iron partition of the car shops, striking Mackeral in the region of the heart, causing death in about ten minutes. The unfortunate young man, after being struck, went to the office of Mr. Breed, the Superintendent of the works and told him he had been shot.

The facts as stated are a summary of what was brought out before the Coroner's jury, at the inquest held on Saturday afternoon. In addition, however, it was clearly shown that Christian did not know that any [illegible] was working inside of the building in [illegible] fired. After hearing the evidence "that [illegible] the jury, by their verdict, said death from a [illegible] Mackeral had come to his Christian, but [illegible] shot wound, inflicted by all blame." After the [illegible] the latter from surrendered himself to the [illegible] authorities at the Central station, and at the [illegible] conclusion of the inquest he was discharged by order of the Coroner. He has been in the employ of McConway, Torley & Co. for some time.

INSURANCE STATISTICS.

The Figures Concerning Life Insurance Companies Doing Business in the State.

From the report of Insurance Commissioner Forster, in relation to Life and Accident Insurance Companies, we gather the following figures:

The report shows that forty-four companies are engaged in business in the State, two of them were admitted to do business last year, and four companies had not renewed their licenses. From the reports made to the Department, it appears that during the year ending December 31, 1874, the citizens of Pennsylvania paid in premiums to fire, marine, life and accident insurance companies a sum of money aggregating $16,198,875 73. Of this sum the premiums paid to life insurance companies were $7,026,100.04. During the year the home life companies issued 2,336 policies, insuring $6,673,904. Companies of other States doing business in Pennsylvania issued 11,523 policies, insuring to the amount of $27,524,868. The home companies at the close of the year had in force 34,032 policies, insuring to the amount of $87,027,538, a net increase of 1,657 policies, and $336,698 during the year. The entire premium income of the year for the home companies was $2,827,592.62, a decrease of $235,235.92 as compared with 1873. The business showed a falling off of 1,905 policies issued, and $5,850,828 75 in the amount insured. The companies of other States doing business in Pennsylvania received premiums amounting tr $5,500,688, a decrease of $515,548. These figures will give a general idea of the life insurance business of the State.

(Before Judges Ewing, Kirkpatrick and White.)

In this court a partial argument took place on a bill in equity filed by John C. Gray et al. vs. Bernard Grever et al., and a further hearing was postponed until next Thursday. The plaintiffs in the case ask the court to restrain the defendants from digging an excavation for the purpose of building a house on an adjoining lot to where they live, situated on Overhill street, in the Eleventh ward, city. They represent that by so doing, a stone wall dividing the two lots will be undermined, and the foundations of their house endangered.

The regular routine business was then transacted.

Criminal Court.

(Before Judge Stowe.)

In the case of Philip Murray, convicted of the murder of James White, the motion for a new trial, in arrest of judgment was over-ruled and the defendant was brought into Court for sentence. Judges Ewing and Kirkpatrick took their places on the bench and the former addressed the prisoner as follows:

Philip Murray, you have been indicted for the murder of James White, and you have been found guilty of murder in the first degree. Have you anything to say why the sentence of the law should not be pronounced upon you?

The prisoner remaining silent the court proceeded: You have been ably and earnestly defended by skilled, experienced counsel and after a patient full trial, you have been found guilty on ample testimony—testimony so conclusive as to leave no doubt in our minds as to the justice of the verdict rendered by the jury. The law imposes a painful duty. With no feeling towards you personally, but that of kindness and sympathy, here in the solemnities of this hour, we entreat you if you have not already so done, to make earnest preparations for eternity. Put your trust in God who is ever ready to forgive, and able to save those who come unto him.

Philip Murray—The sentence of the law is that you Philip Murray the prisoner at the bar, be taken hence to the jail of Allegheny county, whence you came and thence to the place of execution, at such time as the Governor of this Commonwealth by his warrant may appoint, and that then and there you be hanged by the neck till you be dead.—And may God in his infinite goodness have mercy on your soul. Murray did not appear to be effected at hearing his sentence, and was led away to his cell, at its conclusion.

Harry Martin was fined $50 and costs for selling liquors, &c. The prosecutor was George [illegible]. On another charge against the same defendant, for nuisance, sentence was suspended. For selling liquor on Sunday the same defendant was fined $100 and costs.

Michael Driscoll was sentenced to the Work House for one year for felonious assault.

Dennis Donovan received a similar sentence for assault and battery with intent to commit a rape.

James Smith, convicted of larceny, was sentenced to the workhouse for five months.

William H. Young was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years for larceny from the person.

A BAPTISMAL CEREMONY.

Exciting Scene on the Allegheny River—A Barge Loaded with People Sunk.

Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock was the time appointed by a colored minister, in Allegheny, for the baptism of four persons. The ceremony was to take place in the Allegheny river, and yesterday afternoon a place was selected on the shore of the Allegheny, in the Fifth ward, Allegheny. A large number, at least five hundred persons, was present to witness the ceremony. About three hundred of these people crowded upon a coal-float, and to enable them to see the ceremony performed, all crowded to the front part of the boat. The weight being thus thrown all on one side caused that side to sink down into the water, and in a few minutes the float was resting on the bottom of the river. As the float was going down there was a stampede, and a number of parties jumped into a flat adjoining, when it too went down. Fortunately, the water was not more than three feet deep at that point, and all escaped without serious injury. The excitement, however, was very great, and there was such a jostling to get away from the water, that store clothes and finery were forgotten,—and many and loud were the wailings at the ruin of Sunday duds. As soon as good order was restored, the ceremony was proceeded with, and the four candidates were duly baptised.

The Best Material for Pavements.

Artificial Stone is superior to all other material for pavements, in that it can be laid with a smooth and uniform surface, is solid and durable, may be made highly ornamental, resists the influence of changes in temperature and in addition to its many other advantages is its cheapness. Leave orders at the office of Blunck & Straub, 71 Federal street, Allegheny.

AN IMMENSE OIL FIRE.

The Brilliant Oil Works of Lockhart & Frew Badly Damaged on Saturday—The Greatest Conflagration for Many Years—Loss $200,000—The Insurance—Full Particulars.

The greatest oil fire that has occurred in Pittsburgh since the famous one of 1868 was that which broke out on Saturday afternoon at the large refining establishment of Lockhart & Frew, at Negley's Run, on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, in the Eighteenth ward. About fifty thousand barrels of oil were consumed, besides other valuable material, entailing a loss of nearly $200,000. Regarding the exact loss it is of course impossible to determine it accurately. The insurance amounts to $130,000. About one o'clock tank No. 6 was discovered to be on fire, supposed to have been ignited by a spark from a chimney. It contained fifteen thousand barrels of distillate, or distilled crude oil, and an effort to draw it off proved ineffectual. A telegram was then at once forwarded to the city, requesting that steamers be sent out immediately, for it was feared that if the tank should burst the other tanks located below it would catch fire and endanger the safety of the refinery. Engineer Hamill ordered engines Nos. 6, 7 and 8 to proceed to the scene, but after they got there they could not do much towards extinguishing the fire, and consequently the firemen bent every nerve to prevent it from spreading and destroying the refinery and other tanks. Nos. 7, 6 and 5 were situated on the right bank of the river. No. 7, which contains 40,000 barrels of crude oil, was the only one saved, and it owes its safety to the fact that it was located higher up the run than any of the others. No. 6 had not burned long until tank No. 5, just below, caught fire and the apprehensions that they would burst soon proved to be well grounded. Both tanks finally vomited their contents and the immense volume of burning oil, sweeping across to the left bank of the run, set fire to eight other tanks all of which were totally destroyed. Six of them were located on a hill side and it had always been thought heretofore that their location would certainly secure them from destruction, no matter how fiercely a fire might rage in the bottom, but a conflagration is a terrible catastrophe and when one starts there is no telling hardly where it will stop. The loss of property would probably have been much greater than it was, had it not been for the wisdom which prompted some one to take the precaution of constructing an embankment about three feet high across the bottom and preventing the largest part of the oil from running to the river and consuming every thing in its pathway. The safety of the large brick refinery, its machinery, &c., is largely due to this measure. Had the oil been permitted to spread in every direction it would, in all likelihood, have been burning yet, but being confined within a certain space and kept together it burned up all the sooner and was wholly extinguished yesterday. Two small frame dwelling houses not far from where the fire commenced and three on the hillside adjacent to the tanks situated there, and all of which were occupied by employees of the concern, were destroyed, but the occupants succeeded in saving all their household goods. The oil which succeeded in escaping from the embankment and making its way to the river bank damaged the Allegheny Valley railroad bridge considerably, and about seven o'clock in the evening ignited the warehouse and barreling house just below the railroad track and on the river bank. It was burned to the ground, together with 30,000 new oil barrels. These barrels were bought last year when business was dull, and cost from $2 to $2.10 each, but now are estimated to be worth only about $1.30 each. The value of a considerable quantity of them was materially enhanced by the fact that they were painted and glued. Seven sections of hose belonging to the Fire Department were burned, and two of the steamers narrowly escaped meeting the same fate. A barge containing 3,000 new and empty barrels was moored at the wharf but it was saved by the steamboat Park Painter, which towed it up to the water works foundations and placed it out of harm's way. The contents of one of the destroyed oil tanks, which contained 20,000 barrels, belonged to Graff, Bennett & Co.

A careful estimate of the loss, prepared by one who is familiar with all the minutiæ of the refining business, is as follows:

Crude oil, about 40,000 barrels	$ 72,000
Distilled oil, 5,000 barrels	17,000
Three crude oil tanks	20,000
One distillate tank	8,000
Six bleaching tanks	10,000
Bleaching house building	2,000
One benzine tank and contents	5,000
Warehouse and barreling house	5,000
Thirty thousand new oil barrels, including painted and glued barrels	40,000
Small forcing pump, about	5,000
	$184,000

The still department was uninjured, all the large pumps and stills, agitators and main buildings being saved. Major Frew estimates his loss at $200,000, against which he says there is an insurance of $130,000. Of this amount $60,000 expired at noon on Saturday. Mr. Frew's prudence induced him to have it renewed without delay, and he did so. Soon after accomplishing it he heard that his oil tanks were in flames, and of course that $60,000 renewed insurance was a source of considerable satisfaction. Mr. Arrott, of the agency of Arrott & Lockhart, says that the insurance on the warehouse and its contents, and the bleaching house is but $75,000, and $2,000 on the dwellings destroyed, also an insurance of $20,000 on the oil belonging to Graff, Bennett & Co. The entire insurance is spread all over the United States.

Lockhart & Frew will be able to resume operations soon again, from the fact that the Nonpareil Oil Works, which are near the damaged refinery, belongs to them, and they will probably start it up at once. No. 7 tank, containing 40,000 barrels of crude oil, is uninjured, and will furnish sufficient supply until more can be obtained. The firm feel grateful to Chief Hamill, Assistant Evans, and the firemen under their charge for their efficient assistance in staying the progress of the flames. Some of them worked until noon yesterday. The Lawrence and Creighton steamers were on the ground thirty-five minutes after the alarm was sounded, and the Independence steamer in about an hour.

The Allegheny Valley railroad company put one hundred and fifty men to work yesterday repairing their bridge and track, and by noon it was again in as good and serviceable condition as before the fire. The telegraph poles and wires destroyed are also up and in working order.

THE INDUSTRIAL INSTITUTE.

The Plans for the Building Completed.

The architect has completed the plans for the building to be erected under the direction of the Tradesmen's Industrial Institute. It is proposed to erect the structure on South avenue, Allegheny, at a place midway between School street and Grant avenue (the northern terminus of the Point bridge), and it is to be finished ready for the first Exposition by September next. The site is a part of Smoky Island. It has been ascertained that there is a bed of gravel a few feet below the surface, and that a good foundation can be secured. It is proposed, if suitable arrangements can be made with the claimants to the property, to improve by filling, and developing a park on the grounds comprised in the entire area of Smoky Island.

The following is a brief description of the proposed building: The building will be set on piles sixteen feet apart each way (over five hundred in all), driven to a depth of fifty-three feet. The ground floor will be about four feet above the grade of South avenue. This floor will consist of a nave eighth feet wide by seventy-five feet high, and the aisles fifty feet wide by forty-five high, arranged with ample room for promenades between spaces set aside for exhibition purposes. The floor area will be about 196,000 square feet—certainly large enough to meet any ordinary demand of the first year's exposition. The second-story will be a gallery fifty feet wide, the intervening space between them in the center of the building being connected by two bridges ninety feet apart. Between these bridges, on the ground floor, will be placed a fountain of elegant design and most elaborate finish, and which will play streams about forty-five feet high. In the east end of the gallery a special apartment will be partitioned off for the fine arts, and in the west end a similar one for the textile fabrics. This part of the building will be accessible from the ground floor by eight stairways, each of which is to be fifteen feet wide. Altogether, the interior is well arranged, not only for the purpose for which it is designed, but for large gatherings, such as picnic festivals, political conventions, etc. The exterior is what might be called the rennaisance style of architecture. Its appearance, while not being magnificent, will be imposing and in keeping with the purpose for which it is intended. There will be five domed gables, on each side over the main entrances and with the two main end entrances, the entire exit and ingress space from the doors being not less than two hundred feet. The structure will be of wood, glass and iron, and with its five hundred windows will be light, airy, substantial and peculiarly fitted for an industrial institute exposition.

PICNIC ROWDIES.

A Turbulent Saturday Gathering Near Temperanceville.

While the upper portion of the South Side was as placid and calm as an undisturbed lake on Saturday, the lower end, in the vicinity of Temperanceville, was as turbulent and boisterous as an angry sea. A picnic was progressing there, and it has become an almost invariable peculiarity of such make-believe rural affairs to end in disgraceful fights. At any rate at this particular one there was something of an unlawful character going on, and which demanded the attention of officer Sheehan. He proceeded to bestow his presence upon the assemblage, and was received with a blow from a beer glass which struck him on the head, inflicting an ugly wound and inducing temporary feelings of mingled martyrdom and revenge. Thomas Mullin was subsequently arrested as the person who struck Sheehan, and will have a hearing to-day on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. The officer did not see who hit him, but a citizen who was an eye witness of the whole affair said that he saw Mullin edging through the crowd with a beer glass in his hand, and also saw him throw it and strike the patrolman. Another policeman, whose name was not learned, was also knocked down. These men who will persist in resisting and obstructing an officer while discharging his duty will get but little sympathy from the Mayor, as he is determined to extinguish rowdyism if possible, and in order to accomplish that end will see that his officers are given that protection which the law accords them.

THE POST'S LIBEL SUIT.

The Jury Find for the Plaintiff for $10,000—A Motion Made for a New Trial.

On Saturday morning the jury in the Moore-Post libel suit came into Court at ten o'clock, Judges Sterrett and Collier on the bench, with a sealed verdict in favor of the plaintiff. The verdict assessed different amounts on the several defendants, and being told by the Court that the damages should have been all in a bulk, the jury retired again and brought in a verdict, in about fifteen minutes, in favor of the plaintiff for $10,000.

No sooner was this announced than did Mr. Hampton, on the part of the defendants, make a motion for a new trial and filed reasons therefor. In the first verdict of the jury, it is said $5,000 of the damages were placed to the name of James P. Barr, Esq., and the balance was distributed among the remaining stockholders in the Post. The defense claimed that the first verdict showed that the jury thought the most guilty party should pay but $5,000, and the balance of their finding should have been set aside as surplusage.

The following were the reasons filed for a new trial.

1. The Court erred in its ruling as to the admission of evidence that the said W. D. Moore was not acting in a public capacity when he published the card of February 15, 1874, and that the alleged libellous article was not a privileged publication.

2. The Court erred in its charge to the jury in declaring as matter of law that the article published in the Post was libellous, and instructing them that the verdict must be for the plaintiff.

3. The Court erred in their charge, in instructing the jury that for the publication of the alleged libellous article, the plaintiff was entitled to compensation in the way of damages without further qualifications as to the occasion and the circumstances under which it was written.

4. The Court erred in charging the jury that the article published in the Post of February 16, 1875, was libellous per se, when only parts of the same were set forth in the narr, and not the whole thereof.

5. The verdict is excessive and oppressive, the result of prejudice, passion and ignorance on the part of the jury, and should he set aside.

The following reasons were filed in arrest of judgment:

1. The jury sealed their verdict and separated on the night of June 11, 1875, and on the meeting of the Court on the following morning, handed the sealed verdict to the Court, and upon having opened it, it was found to be an assessment of damages in different sums upon each one of the defendants. That the Court declined to receive the same, and directed the jury to retire and to find one sum against all the defendants, the measure being the amount that the most guilty should pay. That the highest amount named in said first verdict was $8,000, and assessed against James P. Barr.

2. That the jury, in violation of the instructions given, found the sum of $10,000 against all the defendants, whereas the finding, even if justified under the law and evidence, should have been for $5,000.

3. The Court erred in not receiving and having recorded the first verdict for $5,000 against the said defendants, being the highest amount assessed against James P. Barr, whom they found to be the most guilty one of said defendants, and in not treating the residue of said first verdict as surplusage.

SATURDAY'S STORM.

Damage Done—Buildings Struck by Lightning.

On Saturday morning, about four o'clock, the heaviest storm which has occurred in this vicinity since the flood of last July, took place. About three o'clock the black clouds made their appearance in the western sky, and flashes of lightning followed in quick succession, indicating that a heavy rain would soon follow. Half an hour later the rain drops began to fall gently, but about four o'clock a high wind rose, which culminated in a terrible gale, doing much damage. The peals of thunder were almost deafening at times, and the rain descending in torrents, soon deluged the streets and filled the culverts with water. The heavy rain-fall only lasted about an hour, but while it did continue, it brought to mind the Butcher Run flood of last year.

The damage done in various parts of the city was not very serious, but is worthy of mention. The lightning struck the bell tower of the Second avenue school-house, at Hazelwood, shattering it to some extent, and setting fire to the building. The flames were extinguished with a few buckets of water. The electric fluid struck the residence of Mr. John C. Curtis, on Margaretta street, near Hiland avenue, East Liberty, doing considerable damage. A house owned by Mr. E. B. Morris, and occupied by a Mr. Ward, in the Fourteenth ward, was also struck, but fortunately none of the inmates were injured. A house situated on Lake alley, off Juniata street, Allegheny, received a heavy bolt, which passed down through the center of the building to the ground. The members of the family occupying the dwelling were all in bed, and, with the exception of being somewhat stunned, were not hurt. An oil tank at Monterey, on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, was struck and about 12,000 barrels of oil destroyed. The property was owned by the United Pipe Line Company, and was insured in Dr. Thorn's agency, on Fourth avenue, this city. Amos Dunmyer and Samuel Griffin, employes of the P. R. R. Co., while sitting in a small office erected upon the coal scaffold at Conemaugh, Pa., received rather a sudden visitation of the electric fluid which tore the boots and stockings from their feet. The former had one of his legs paralyzed, and both were seriously, though not dangerously injured.

The water did much damage in various localities. A culvert was displaced on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railroad, at Remington station, which caused a freight train to be thrown from the track at half-past seven o'clock, making a delay in all the trains of about an hour and a half; although the engine landed with the wheels upward, neither the engineer or fireman was hurt. On the South Side Carson street was blockaded for a while, large quantities of dirt being washed from the hill side near the Castle Shannon Incline Railway track. The obstruction was removed by eight o'clock. On the Butler plank road the water was dammed up to such an extent that travelers could not pass until it had run off. A number of planks were torn up, and the gulleys at the side of the thoroughfare were said to contain water fifteen feet deep, for a time. A number of corn and wheat fields in various parts of the western portion of the State were badly damaged, and the loss is reported quite heavy.

SAVAGE ASSAULT.

A Man Badly Beaten With a Cobble Stone.

On Saturday night, about eleven o'clock as a man named John Shaners, was quietly walking along East street, near the city line in Allegheny, he was suddenly attacked by a man named John Neable, who beat him about the head and body every severely with a cobble stone, and kicked him and otherwise abused him. He was rendered insensible, and was carried into Bower's residence and Dr. Thorn summoned, who found that the injuries were so severe that the man could not be removed to his home, but he thought that he would recover. Neable was arrested by officer's Frank Campbell and Clark, and placed in the lockup, where he still remains.

ATTEMPTED RESCUE.

A Lively Scrimmage with a Crowd.

On Saturday night about eleven o'clock Lieut. Brooks and Officer Heinricks arrested a man named Peter Jones, on Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny, for disorderly conduct. A party of about twenty men then attempted to take the prisoner from the officers, and stoned them, so that they had to draw their revolvers and shoot at the crowd to keep them back. They landed their prisoner safely in the lock-up, and then went back and captured one of the crowd who attempted the rescue, named Richard Meinsenburg, and locked him up. At the hearing yesterday morning Meinsenburg was fined $20 and costs.

Petroleum Exports.

The exports of petroleum for Europe from New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore for the week ending June 7th this year amounted in crude equivalent to 161,801 barrels, a daily average of 23,114 barrels. The total capacity of the vessels loading and chartered to load at that date at the three ports was in crude equivalent 535,582 barrels. Of this amount there were on June 7th already on board 143,820 barrels, leaving to fill 391,762 barrels. At the same date the total stock of refined in Philadelphia was only 17,500 barrels. The total exports this year up to June 7th from the three ports were in crude equivalent 2,087,234 barrels, as against 2,409,569 barrels same time last year, the difference being 322,335 barrels. The crude exports this year up to June 7th were 150,130, against 146,854 barrels same time last year. The exports of naphtha this year to June 7th were 3,443,492 gallons, against 3,098,313 gallons same time last year, an increase of 345,179 gallons. The naphtha exports this year are not quite 4 1-2 per cent. of the crude taken to manufacture the refined exports.—Titusville Courier.

As Good as New.

The above expression is peculiarly applicable to the individual whose system has been renovated by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. If any man or woman in this community has a friend suffering from the various pangs which indigestion, nervous disease, weak back or kidney trouble can inflict, the most rational advice he or she can give is—"Procure the Bitters at once, and use them regularly." If this advice is heeded, we guarantee that in a short time the invalid will feel "as good as new," so marked and so rapid will be the change for the better wrought by this peerless invigorant, nervine and diuretic. It not only re-establishes indigestion and stimulates the organs of urination into healthful activity, but expels by the natural outlets of the body those acrid elements in the secretion which, when absorbed into the blood, produce rheumatism, gout and neuralgia. Moreover, its gentle though effectual action admirably fits it for the use of females in delicate health, who require a tonic stimulant and corrective.
